At Greenawalt Farms, Public Gets Ag Education

DAVID HIEBERT
Westmoreland County
Correspondent

WEST NEWTON (Westmoreland Co.) — John and Ina Greenawalt love visitors on their farm. And visitors love to come. They've been coming for more than 13 years. The family and employees of the Greenawalt Farms between West Newton and Madison welcomed thousands of people during their recent annual egg festival.

The Greenawalt Farm consists of several interrelated enterprises. The largest is the egg business. In fact, Greenawalts are Westmoreland County's largest egg producer. With a capacity of 40,000 birds, the farm produces between 25,000 and 30,000 eggs a day. However, producing and packaging the eggs is only half the business. Getting them to consumers as fresh eggs is the other half. The eggs are delivered to grocery stores in a 30-mile radius of the farm. The stores vary from regional chains to mom and pop operations. "We don't deal with big warehouses, though," Ina said. Eggs are a product that has to be fresh, and people don't know how long it's been stored when they eat it. Poor warehousing means a poor product and the Greenawalts know their customers want their eggs fresh.

The Greenawalt's experience is built on many years of producing eggs and have had some of their customers for over 40 years. They first expanded production with a triple deck cage system in 1964. Now they specialize in large, jumbo, and super jumbo eggs.

Pa. Ayrshire Association Holds Annual Convention

MORGANTOWN (Chester Co.) — The Pennsylvania Ayrshire Association holds its annual convention at the Holiday Inn in Morgantown March 29, honoring members achievements, inducting Earl Keefer Jr. into its Hall of Fame and selecting a new breed promotion court.

Don Gable, president of the organization, presented the Hall of Fame award to Keefer and wife Annabel, for his work with Ayrshires since getting involved with the group in 1950.

Keefer's first Ayrshire was purchased in 1948, and after joining the local Ayrshire club, he soon became president and involved in the organization at the state and national level.

Keefer served as president of the state association in 1986, director of the national association, its vice president and he served two terms as national president of the Ayrshire Association.

State Soybean Contest Winner Uses Experience

ANDY ANDREWS

MARIETTA (Lancaster Co.) —

"If I'm going to survive in farming, I can't accept average yields," said Lancaster County soybean grower Dwight Hess.

"I can't accept average performance out of my cattle," he said, looking over futures data on his DTN computer terminal. "I have to be above average in order to survive in the 1990s in farming."

Hess concentrates on the details of his 265-acre farm, of which 50 acres are in soybeans.

His painstaking attention to details and careful land management netted him 70.4 bushels per acre, placing him first in the Pennsylvania Soybean Yield Contest for 1995.

Hess is meticulous about his work, keeping careful attention to planting variety and methods. Hess bases his decision on carefully wrought experience in growing soybeans.

On the 7.5 acres of the yield-winning variety, Hess noticed right away that conditions were ideal.

Daylight-Saving Starts Sunday

It's time to set clocks ahead one hour, starting officially at 2 o'clock Sunday morning, April 7. You can simply set your clock one hour ahead on Saturday night before going to bed. Dairy farmers will need to make special adjustments because of the feeding schedule.

A Thousand Words About The Practical Theology Of Easter

A photo was needed for this issue of Lancaster Farming that showed attributes of the Spirit of Easter. Such as Love, Joy, Peace, Longsuffering, Gentleness, Goodness, Faith...

In the search for such a picture Wednesday afternoon, these kids and twin lambs, one black and one white, appeared in the camera viewfinder. They all belong to Marty and Lois Hoover near Denver in Lancaster County. From left are Chris, 7, Mike, 5, Renee, 12, Holly, 11, and Josh, 9.

There is an old saying that God made topsoil so farmers could grow good children. At Hoover's four-acre sheep farm, located along Sandy Hill Road, a large spring crop of 22 lambs has increased the flock size to 54 head. More are on the way. The children are growing up with siblings and animals that make a happy childhood. Two of the youths are foster children, but no one in the family seemed to give any thought about who was who—which just adds weight to the premise: this picture is worth a thousand words about the practical theology of Easter. National Grain Market

ST. JOSEPH, MO

APRIL 3, 1996

Grain and soybean bids took a giant leap forward on Wednesday. Wheat bids were up on continued crop concerns. Corn bids climbed sharply higher due to tight old crop stocks and good export sales this week. Soybean bids were higher in reaction to climbing wheat and corn bids. Wheat 4 to 11 cents higher. Corn 7 to 10 cents higher. Sorghum 18 to 22 cents higher. Soybeans 3 to 9 cents higher. Traders concerns for winter wheat conditions, as dry weather continues in many areas growing winter wheat, supported wheat bids. Forecasts for rainfall in the Southern Plains, limited gains. Not a very good week as yet for foreign sales also undermined wheat bids. Corn moved higher as continued tight old crop stocks keep traders worried. Even with higher prices export sales have been good for corn so far this week. Spillover strength from wheat and corn pits pushed bean bids upward. Soybean meal demand was also a positive factor in higher bids. However, with prices climbing so sharply, many farmers may break down and take some old crop to elevators. ORTHODOX EASTER, APRIL 14.

CUBISM, BUT NO COMPUTERS

It's interesting that a cubist painter, dedicated to experimentation and change, would feel that, "Computers are useless. They can only give you answers." That was Pablo Ruiz y Picasso, who died on April 8 in 1973. He believed that to repeat oneself (by pursuing naturalism in art, as those who came before him) was to contradict "the constant flight forward of the spirit." His own flight forward embraced abstract painting and cubism, and he was also renowned as a potter, designer, sculptor, and graphic artist, working into his 90s.

"Give me a museum and I'll fill it."
— Pablo Picasso

CHEESE FONDUE

2 tablespoons olive oil
3 cloves garlic, minced
1/2 pound Fontina cheese, shredded
1/2 pound provolone, shredded
3 tablespoons flour
1-1/2 cups dry white wine
3 tablespoons kirsch (optional) pepper
1 large loaf French baguette, cut into cubes

Combine olive oil and garlic. Toss cheeses with the flour. A half hour before serving time, heat the wine in a fondue pot or heavy enamel pan. Do not boil. When wine is hot, gradually add the cheeses, stirring constantly. Add olive oil and garlic then the kirsch, still stirring. Add pepper to taste. Cook over low heat for about 10 minutes, then keep warm over a candle or warming tray. Dip bread cubes into cheese with long-handled forks.

Makes 6 servings.

THE OLD FARMER'S WEATHER PROVERBS

Fog in April foretells wheat crop failure.

No more frost after the mulberry tree leafs.

Thunder in April is the end of frost.

Expect rain when the bull leads the herd to pasture.

Better April showers than the breadth of the ocean in gold.

OPINION

The Easter Story From Isaiah

WHO hath believed our report? And to whom is the arm of the Lord revealed?

For he shall grow up before him as a tender plant, and as a root out of a dry ground: he hath no form nor comeliness; and when we shall see him, there is no beauty that we should desire him.

He is despised and rejected of men; a man of sorrows, and acquainted with grief: and we hid as it were our faces from him; he was despised, and we esteemed him not.

Surely he hath borne our griefs, and carried our sorrows: yet we did esteem him stricken, smitten of God, and afflicted.

But he was wounded for our transgressions, he was bruised for our iniquities; the chastisement of our peace was upon him; and with his stripes we are healed.

All we like sheep have gone astray; we have turned every one to his own way; and the Lord hath laid on him the iniquity of us all.

He was oppressed, and he was afflicted, yet he opened not his mouth; he is brought as a lamb to the slaughter, and as a sheep before her shearers is dumb, so he openeth not his mouth.

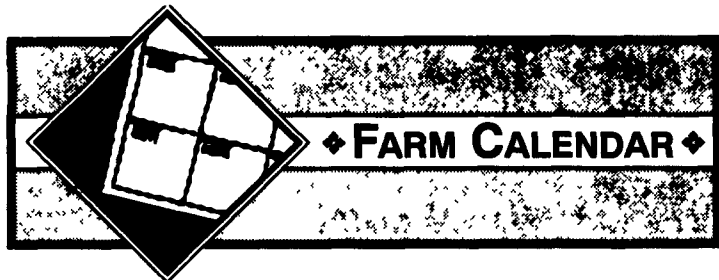

He was taken from prison and from judgement; and who shall declare his generation? For he was cut off out of the land of the living; for the transgression of my people was he stricken.

And he made his grave with the wicked, and with the rich in his death; because he had done no violence, neither was any deceit in his mouth.

Yet it pleased the Lord to bruise him; he hath put him to grief; when thou shalt make his soul an offering for sin, he shall see his seed, he shall prolong his days, and the pleasure of the Lord shall prosper in his hand.

He shall see the travail of his soul, and shall be satisfied; by his knowledge shall my righteous servant justify many; for he shall bear their iniquities.

Therefore will I divide him a portion with the great, and he shall divide the spoil with the strong; because he hath poured out his soul unto death; and he was numbered with the transgressors; and he bare the sin of many, and made intercession for the transgressors. Isaiah 53.

Now Is The Time

To Ration Corn

Based on several factors, we are looking at the smallest corn reserves in the history of the United States.

Some experts are even predicting we could run out of corn sometime in September or even as early as August. In 1995 we harvested 10 percent fewer acres and 26.3 percent fewer bushels than 1994. A cold, wet spring and hot, dry summer coupled with leaf blight and worst ever corn borer infestation resulted in this reduced harvest.

However, domestic feeding continues to rise along with exports. If this trend continues for the next several months, farmers need to be making plans for using alternative feed grains, by-products, and rations using less corn.

Planning ahead now could prevent major problems in August, September, and October.

Will the United States run out of corn? It could be close. Now is the time to start discussing management strategies on how to deal with an ever shrinking corn reserve.

To Know Economic Impact Of Agriculture

This week I was asked to make a presentation on the economic impact of broiler house expansion in Pennsylvania.

Based on the research I did for this talk, I found for every 48-foot by 500-foot broiler house built, $1.6 million of additional economic activity is generated every year and 14.3 new jobs are created.

This additional economic activity comes from increased supplies and services purchased to grow the broilers and increased purchasing power people have through higher incomes and profits.

Also, the new broiler house increases farm income, thus helping to maintain profitable farming operations. Each broiler house generates approximately $7,500 additional income and $27,000 building rental payment.

With the proposed expansion of 100 broiler houses in the area, we are looking at the creation of 1,430 jobs, increased farm income of $750,000, $2.7 million paid for rental of farm buildings, and $160 million in additional economic growth for the area.

Thus, we see the growth of modern production agriculture is very important to maintaining and improving the local economy.

To Educate Public Officials With the rapid growth of houses sity, Mansfield, 9 a.m.

Little International, Ag Arena, Penn State.

Tioga County Ag Banquet, Tioga (Turn to Page A33)

in rural areas, farmers must take a more active role in educating people about modern production agriculture.

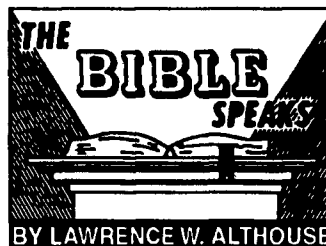

During the past five weeks I have attended three zoning hearing board meetings where farmers were asking for building permits to build barns on land zoned agriculture. In every case neighbors were there objecting to these buildings because they would change the character of the neighborhood and reduce property values.

We need to remind local officials that zoning was developed to manage development. An agriculture zone is designed for agriculture production and is a type of industrial zone. People should expect commercial activities to take place within an agricultural zone. By not allowing farmers to build additional animal housing, we are decreasing the value of the farm and may even have an indirect public taking of land.

If we are to maintain farms, we need to keep them profitable. By limiting the building of animal housing on farms, we are decreasing the earning capacity of the farm.

Public officials need to support farmers in their efforts to expand their animal production when state-of-the-art facilities are being built in agricultural zones.

Background Scripture:

Luke 24:1-36

Devotional Reading:

Luke 24:1-12

When I graduated from seminary, I could explain the resurrection. Now, I no longer can, but I can experience it. And I have come to realize it is better to experience it than to be able to explain it.

If you compare the resurrection accounts, you'll find that all four agree it happened on the first day of the week. Matthew says it was "toward dawn," Mark, "when the sun had risen," Luke, "early dawn," and John, "while it was still dark." Matthew, Mark and John agree that it was Mary Magdalene who came there, while Luke simply speaks of "the women who had come with him from Galilee." Matthew also says "the other Mary" accompanied her, while Mark says "Mary the mother of James and Salome," and John mentions no one beside Mary Magdalene. All agreed that the stone had been rolled from the entrance to the tomb. John says that, on finding the stone rolled away, Mary ran to find Simon Peter. Matthew says the women encountered an "angel," while Mark speaks simply of "a young man...in a white robe" and Luke says "two men in dazzling apparel."

JOHN DIFFERS

From this point on, John's account is quite different: Mary fetches Peter and the "other disciple" and Peter is the first to enter the tomb to find it empty. Mary, weeping outside the tomb, encounters the risen Christ whom she first mistakes for the gardener. That same evening, the Christ appears to "the disciples," but Thomas is not there and disbelieves until Jesus returns again. John also speaks of a subsequent resurrection appearance by the Sea of Galilee.

Matthew, Mark and Luke record the words of the angel/young man/two men, which in Matthew and Mark include the admonition to "tell his disciples" and "is going before you to Galilee." Luke tells us the women—to whom he adds Joanna—hurry to tell the disciples what they have found. Matthew tells us that afterward, Jesus himself appeared to the women, greeting them with "Hail!" and the admonition to "tell my brethren to go to Galilee, and there they will see me." According to Matthew, it is in Galilee that the disciples first see him. Mark tells us nothing and Luke goes on to tell us about Christ appearing to two disciples on the road to Emmaus and a subsequent appearance to the disciples in Jerusalem.

BUT SOME DOUBTED

There is also confusion about the nature of the risen Christ. Matthew says, "they worshiped him; but some doubted." On the Emmaus road, the two disciples don't recognize the risen Lord until he breaks bread with them at the table. In John, Jesus says to Mary, "Do not hold me, for I have not yet ascended to the Father," but when he appears to the disciples he seems to come and go as a "spirit," yet invites Thomas to touch his wounds. In Galilee he eats breakfast with the disciples.

So, how can you explain any or all of that! I can't—just as I can't explain a lot of things that have happened in my life. We call experiences like that "ineffable," meaning we are unable to adequately put them in words. Even romantic love defies precise recounting. People who have what is called the Near Death Experience try to tell us what they experience, but end up admitting they cannot really put it in words.

Again and again in my life I have experienced the power of the resurrected Christ, but I cannot explain that experience to you. I can only share it. That's all any of us can or need to do. There comes a time when, like the disciples on the road to Emmaus, our eyes are opened and we can recognize him in our lives.

Pa. Ayrshire Association Holds Annual Convention

In 1988, he served as a member of the committee that organized the World Ayrshire Conference.

A supporter and user of organization breeding programs, he sent several studs from his herd (of up to 150) to artificial insemination studs, and has consigned animals to both state and national sales.

He had a herd average of 14,200 pounds of milk, 592 pounds of fat. He also twice allowed his farm to be used for the state organization's field day.

He is still involved, serving as the state secretary/treasurer.

Gable presented Keefer with a plaque commemorating the honor.

In other business, Amy Wolfgang presented production awards to junior members of the association.

Winners were:

Stephanie Pomraning, with My-T Peanutbutter, 12,668 pounds milk, 499 pounds fat, and 434 pounds protein at 1-11.

Rebecca Nolan, total production award with 17,459 pounds milk, by S&M Ayr IRS Ola, 2-0.

Craig Nolan, with Dreamnol Olympic Brita, 2-5, 16,876 pounds milk, 608 pounds fat, 600 pounds protein.

Craig with S&M Carl's Nellie, 3-1, 18,427 pounds milk, 621 pounds protein and total production of 18,639 pounds milk.

Meredith Baily with Exchange Miracle Freckles, 3-6, with 633 pounds of fat.

Kevin Nolan, with Dreamnol

Rebel's Sioux, 4-10, with 795 pounds fat.

Brian Nolan with Dreamnol Johnny's Kassy, 4-11, 19,201 pounds of milk, 721 pounds of protein, and total production of 20,893 pounds of milk.

Gretchen Yaple, with Yaple's H.S.&R's Raspberry, 5-0, with 622 pounds fat.

Rachel McCutcheon, with Ardrossan Hiram Snow In Time, 5-1, with high lifetime production of 69,538 pounds milk.

Andrea Koinski, with Heindel Solomon Mindy, 5-8, production of 19,982 pounds milk.

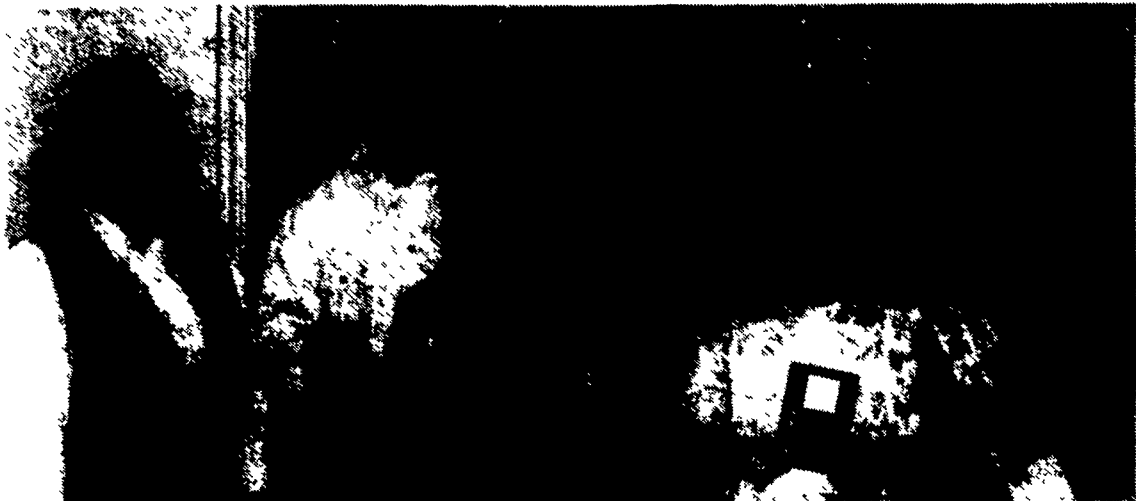

Stephanie Pomraning with Dream Valley Fredrick's Eve, 5-6, with 541 pounds protein and total production of 21,858 pounds milk.

The state organization also selects its annual Ayrshire princess during the convention. This year, Gretchen Yaple was named state princess, while Katie Young was named alternate.

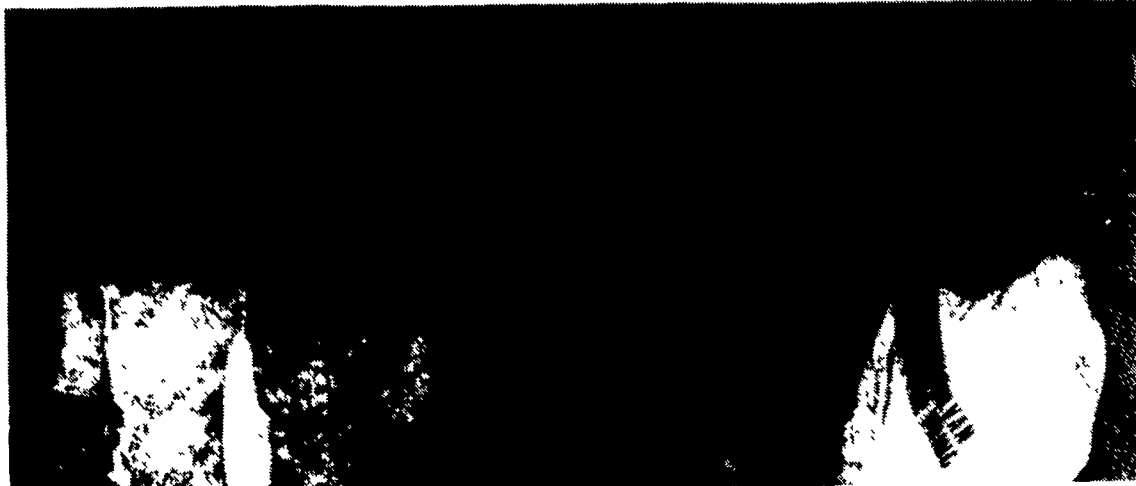

Returning Ayrshire maids are Jennifer Maulfair and Rebecca Nolan.

Outgoing princess Kathy McKenzie presented the sash and a bouquet of flowers to the new princesses and maids. She also talked about her experience promoting the breed, and thanked the group for giving her the opportunity to travel and learn.

The annual convention sale was highlighted by an offering of top quality calves and heifers, though prices were depressed, blamed largely on the economy.

Three animals tied for a top price of $625. The sale total on 37 head was $13,150.

In other announcements, Gable told the group that the annual summer field day is to be held July 6 at the farm of Doug and Donna Stewart in Rome.

He also announced that the state organization is to serve as host for next year's national Ayrshire convention. Gable said it is to be held at Willow Valley Convention Center, Lancaster, June 16-21, 1997.

Those interested in helping can call Bonnie Wentworth, promotion coordinator for the state and convention chairperson at (717) 548-3896.

OK City Feeder Cattle

OKLAHOMA CITY, OK
APRIL 3, 1996

Compared to last Monday: Feeder steers over 800 lbs steady to 1.00 higher; feeder and stocker steers under 800 lbs steady to 2.00 lower. Feeder heifers over 700 lbs fully steady; lighter weight heifers 1.00-3.00 lower. Demand good for heavy weight feeders; moderate for other classes. Corn market continues to limit demand for lighter weight feeder cattle. The usual good demand for heavy weight stockers is absent due to the high wheat market which has limited normal graze-out wheat programs. Quality of supply average, modest end attractive and much improved from last week. Weigh conditions highly varied from gaunt to full. Feeder cattle flesh medium to slightly fleshy, few heavy fleshed. Cutter cows .50 lower. Utility cows steady to 1.50 higher. Slaughter bulls steady to 1.00 higher. Large supply of thin fleshed cows included in today's run. Total of 500 cows and bulls sold, with 80 percent to packers. The long dry winter throughout the eastern 2/3rds of the country has contributed to an oversupply of Cutter and Canner cows. These weak undermoulted older cows did not breed and are moving to market as producers find them open now that spring calving season is underway. Thus the inversion of cow beef prices where Canner and Cutter is below or even with boning Utility. Supply consisted of 74 percent yearlings over 600 lbs; 21 percent calves; 5 percent cows and bulls. Receipts this week 9,800; last week 10,220; last year 7,624. Prices follow with weighted average weight and price in parenthesis. Feeder Steers: Medium and Large 1 400-500 lbs (450 lbs) 60.50-66.00 (63.39); 500-600 lbs

Introducing New Roundup Ultra.

Roundup herbicide has been transformed using advanced TransSorb technology into Roundup Ultra—a dramatically improved herbicide with added value for growers.

Roundup Ultra Is Rainfast.

Proprietary TransSorb technology enables new Roundup Ultra to penetrate more effectively, so it's rainfast in as little as one hour. With that enhanced flexibility, you can apply new Roundup Ultra on your schedule.

Roundup Ultra Is Complete And Ready-To-Use.

Just add water to new Roundup Ultra and you're ready to apply it. There is no need to add surfactants, buffers, or additives of any kind. Yet, new Roundup Ultra retains all the tank-mix versatility of traditional Roundup.

Roundup Ultra Can Lower Your Cost/Acre.

Since it requires no additives, new Roundup Ultra will save most growers money on every acre. And you'll also save time, because with Roundup Ultra there's no longer any need to wait for visible signs of control before you begin tilling annual weeds or planting. Ask for Roundup Ultra—its future technology you can count on today.

Technology You Can Count On.

Ask your dealer for the new Roundup Ultra herbicide. For more information, call 1-800-852-7273 or visit our website at www.monsanto.com/roundup.

A rancher's dream.
You can mount it from either side and it never leaves something nasty to step in.

A stinging sweat ran into his eyes as he watched his buddy crest the next hill. No matter how hard he struggled, he kept falling behind. Auggie Rose knew why. His buddy was riding a Polaris ATV, he wasn't. So he got himself a brand-new Magnum 4x4. Now the truth is, he bought it for its hunting prowess. But if it proved to be useful around his 600-acre beef operation outside Morgan, Utah, so much the better. Well, that liquid-cooled, 4-stroke 425cc Magnum 4x4 quickly went way beyond useful. In fact, it's fast approaching indispensable. That Magnum 4x4 takes Auggie everywhere a horse used to, with a few added advantages: it's much easier to sit on all day. And it carries a lot more equipment. Auggie's riding it to run fence line, feed livestock, irrigate – even pull a harrow. And when Auggie's all caught up with his work, he looks out at the high country and dreams about next hunting season.

Warning: ATVs can be hazardous to operate. Never carry passengers. Be especially careful on difficult terrain. Never ride on paved or public roads. Always wear a helmet and protective clothing. Polaris ATVs may not be ridden by anyone under 18, and all riders should take a training course. For safety and training information, see your dealer or call Polaris at 1-800-342-3764.

"We had a nice stand and I saw from the very beginning that it was off to a good start," the Marietta crop and cattle farmer noted. That included an ideally prepared seedbed.

But the biggest factor in making good yields was "the weather that the Good Lord sent for us."

Hess said, "We've been fortunate the last number of years to have decent growing weather here. We've had fairly ideal growing conditions. The weather is the final determining factor."

At the suggestion of his seed dealer, Hess used land that was previously in corn to grow the award-winning crop. He planted Asgrow A4045.

He keeps the crops in good rotation, from barley to soybeans to corn, and soil tests regularly. In all, Hess manages about 165 acres of tillable land on the home farm and rents additional acreage. In all, he grows 220 acres of corn, 35 acres of barley, and 50 acres of soybeans.

With the corn, he maintains 350 head of predominantly Angus steers. The barley is fed to the cattle and the soybeans are cash-cropped.

In all, he grows about 50 acres of soybeans. Some acreage is double-cropped after barley (yields on the double-cropped soybeans in 1995 topped about 49 bushels per acre.) The 7.5 acres with the winning soybeans will be no-tilled into corn this year.

The soybean ground is chisel-plowed in the fall whenever possible. The ground is then worked in the spring with a field cultivator before planting. (The soybean ground receives steer manure as the only form of fertilizer.)

The winning field was planted right after the corn went in, on May 11 of last year. Hess prepares a very good seedbed and uses 30-inch rows to plant the seeds from 1/2 inch to 1 1/2-inch deep, depending on the weather, moisture levels, and heat units.

"If there's good moisture and plenty of heat, I will lay the seed right under the ground surface," he said. "If the moisture is lacking a little bit, then I'll plant a little deeper."

Hess uses a soybean meter on the back of the 30-inch planter. Soybeans are mixed with an inoculant and planted at the rate of 180,000 per acre.

Hess uses a postemergence herbicide treatment of Pursuit and Pinnacle about 20-25 days after planting. Occasionally, Hess uses a field cultivator to work any weeds. Hess believes in keeping the ground open and aerated until it canopies, generally about mid-July.

Harvest conditions were excellent this year, according to the soybean grower. "The soybeans came off at 11.6 percent moisture," he said. "We had just excellent drying conditions for harvest." Harvest was the first week of October.

With the variety, he has been able to average about 70 bushels plus. His dealer suggested he enter the contest because of the good yields.

Contrary to what he sometimes hears about late-planted soybeans (switching to narrower rows of 15 or 6 inches), Hess plants his double-cropped beans also on 30-inch rows.

Hess attributes the good yields to "good, productive, Class 1 soils with a high state of fertility." He doesn't use a starter fertilizer with the soybeans and only rarely uses a starter fertilizer for corn.

The key to good soybean yields is to have acceptable stands and weed control. It's a matter of keeping careful records and "trying to control as many variables that I have control over," he said.

All through the growing season,

Dwight Hess concentrates on the details of his 265-acre farm, of which 50 acres are in soybeans. His painstaking attention to details and careful land management netted him 70.4 bushels per acre, placing him first in the Pennsylvania Soybean Yield Contest for 1995.

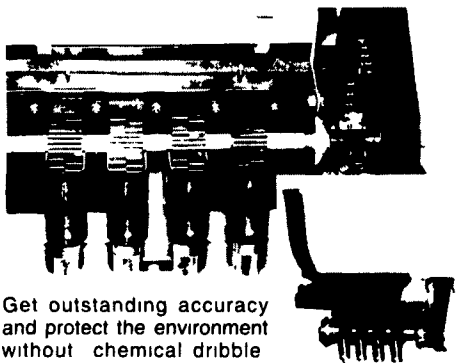

Hess keeps a close eye on all the crops he's growing, but doesn't actually walk the field on a scheduled basis.

Hess has help throughout the season with wife Cheryl and sons Mike, 16 and Scott, 9. Mike helps with the fieldwork.

According to John, they quit pullets 4 or 5 years ago in favor of "spent hens," which he says allows them to adjust to the changing market more quickly. After getting in a flock of hens that have been laying for 12-14 months for another producer, they may be molted immediately and can then be back in full production in two or three months. Raising pullets takes longer with the additional problem of all the undersized eggs.

In addition to eggs, the farm produces fresh sweet corn in late spring through early summer and pumpkins in the fall. Both these products are also delivered fresh to area stores.

"For sweet corn we ask the store to order only as much as they will sell in a single day," Ina says. "We deliver every day."

At pumpkin time in the fall, there is another opportunity to emphasize fresh produce and make a contact with the stores. These additional connections provide opportunity for spaced contact with the stores and a way to keep the Greenawalt name out in the public. Though secondary to eggs, these two products add depth to the farm's produce and extra cash income.

What's the attraction?

Why would school children and families come out to see a working farm? Ina emphasizes that many of the people who visit have never been on a farm or have only a slight idea about how food is produced. This farm tour gives kids and their parents a chance to learn something and make a connection to their rural heritage.

The educational/public relations effort has been a continuing concern for the business. Lead by Ina, the teaching effort includes year around tours of the farm with special emphasis on seasonal events such as the Egg Festival. Though wagon rides are available to groups all year around, they are especially popular in the fall.

For the big egg festival, the farm buys ad space in local papers to advertise the event. Vendors have caught on that many people will be at the event, and 30-40 craft and agri-business booths are set up on the property.

One example of the literature available for children and their parents includes a storybook that has both a children's story line and adult explanations. In the story, titled Sunrise to sunset A day in the life of Grech'hen the Greenawalt chicken, Lil Bird is introduced along with Grech'hen to tell visitors what happens on the farm. The story includes planting and harvest, molting hens and production.

At the beginning of the book, a direct connection made between this farm and eggs in the store. The book concludes with connect the dots, mazes and other pencil activities for the kids.

Included on the farm is a small retail outlet called the Country

This is no Easter bunny, but Sam DeArmitt could be the bunny's helper. He helps bring eggs to youngsters while working with the egg sorter/grader/packer as Greenawalt Farms host thousands of visitors at their annual egg festival.

Farm Store. Greenawalt's two sons have contiguous, but independent, businesses with their parents. One son has a solid oak furniture business located with the retail food outlet. Another son has a greenhouse called B & G enterprises, which is also located on the property. A small restaurant is also opening as part of this 14th Egg Festival.

The farm started as a 26 acre plot, inherited as part of John's family place. It's now been in the family for over a hundred years. Gradual expansion included additional land purchases in 1969 and following. The acreage has now grown to about 280 acres plus some rented ground.

The adjusting, development and imagination that have been put into the business in the last generation will have to continue if it is to survive into the next century. But from the energy shown by the Greenawalts and their employees in the last fourteen years, that is sure to happen.

Hess attributes the "weather and the blessings of the Good Lord" with the end result in crop farming.

As for the award, Hess noted he didn't "go after the award for a lot of personal recognition. I just see it as a way for the industry to recognize an accomplishment.

"If somebody else is able to learn to be a better soybean grower, than I'm willing to participate in something like this," said Hess. "Paying attention to every detail along the way — that's farming in general." That includes looking at costs at every step.

"I'm farming the best way I know how," he said. "But there's better ways for me to

Keystone Farm Credit Reports Best Year Ever

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff
NEW HOLLAND (Lancaster Co.) — Stockholders at Keystone Farm Credit's annual meetings heard good news this week. Phil Kimmel, president and chief executive officer, announced that Keystone's assets are the highest since the association was formed, with 92 percent loans portfolio classified acceptable.

The organization showed $4 million in earnings in 1995, which is a significant increase over other years. Kimmel attributed the increase in part to $1 million collected on delinquent loans. Another reason for the significant increase was the consolidation of the Baltimore and Columbia branch offices to form Ag First Farm Credit Bank. The board estimated an annual financial benefit of $700,000 to $900,000.

Expenses were less in 1995 than previously predicted. According to Kimmel, expenses have been reduced each year since 1991.

Keystone, a cooperative formed to loan money to individuals and businesses involved in agriculture, selected a new mission statement presented at the annual stockholders' meeting: Aggressively strive to set the highest standard for serving and supporting customers as the premier provider of financial products and services at competitive prices.

Keystone is putting greater emphasis on promoting services offered such as record keeping, tax service, real estate appraisal, and so forth.

Elected to three-year terms to the board of directors are Kenneth L. Hershey of Oxford, Region 1; Mervin Sauder of Lititz, Region 2, position 1; Dale Hershey of Manheim, Region 2, position 2; and Rodger L. Wagner, Oley, Region 3.

Kenneth Hershey has been farming for 41 years. His operation consists of raising hogs and growing corn and soybeans. Hershey is vice chairman of the Lower Oxford Township supervisors and chairman of the Consolidated Farm Service Agency board. He is a Oxford Methodist Church trustee and serves on the finance board. He is a member of Oxford Lodge #353 Free and Accepted Masons and previously served on the board of the Chester County DHIA.

Mervin Sauder has been farming 38 years. He has dairy, hogs, steers, and chickens. He serves on the boards of L&L Pig Producers and on the East Petersburg Rotary. He is a member of Agway, the state Farm Bureau, and past president of the Lancaster County Holstein Association. He is chairman of Keystone's finance committee and serves on its Credit committee. He is active member of Erb Mennonite Church.

Dale Hershey farms in partnership with his brother for 16 years. They milk 250 cows and farm 500 acres. Hershey is an elder at Akron Mennonite Church, Manheim Young Farmers Association, Pa. Farm Bureau, and the Atlantic Dairy Cooperative. Hershey was a former president and a vice president of the Lancaster County Cooperative Extension Board and secretary of the Lancaster County DHIA.

Rodger Wagner has been farming for 36 years. He has 180 cow, 150 replacement heifers, and 650 acres of corn, alfalfa, and soybeans. He is a member of the Berks County Dairy Farmers Association and of Pa. Farm Bureau, Fleetwood Grange, Atlantic Breeders Cooperative, Pa. Holstein Association, Agway, Oley Fire Company, and Pike Township Sportsman's Association. He holds several offices at the St. John Hill United Church of Christ in Boyertown. He also serves on Keystone's Audit and Review committee.

Three members were elected to serve two-year terms on the nominating committee. They include Glenn Moyer, Telford, Region 1; Bruce Kreider, Bainbridge; and Kenneth Stutzman, Kutztown.

Dale Minnich, a humorist and motivational speaker from Oklahoma, provided the entertainment at the Monday evening meeting. Wayne Humphreys, farmer and speaker, addressed the Tuesday evening stockholders' meeting.

“Harness® Xtra: the best weed control I’ve seen in years”

*Rick Schlosberg, 2,000 acres
Newtown Square, Pennsylvania*

“I had always been a big Bicep user in corn, until I started seeing frequent mid-season escapes of giant foxtail. Even spiking the Bicep with extra Dual didn’t work. To make a long story short, I went with Harness® Xtra on 90 percent of my acreage in 1995. And, I’ll be doing it again this year.

With Harness Xtra, I had excellent long-season weed control of giant foxtail, fall panicum and triazine-resistant lambsquarters. I saw no escapes at all for the first time in over six years. It saved me money, too, because I didn’t have to spike it to get consistent control or come back with resprays.

I’m using Harness Xtra 5.6L in a big way this season. I encourage you to do the same.”

300 COMPETE IN PENN STATE SPRING LIVESTOCK JUDGING CONTEST

The 1996 Penn State Spring Livestock Judging Contest was held recently on the University Park campus.

More than 300 contestants, including 4-H and FFA youth from across the commonwealth and Penn State students, converged on Penn State's Ag Arena to compete in the annual contest that marks the beginning of the summer show and livestock judging season.

In addition to starting the judging season, the event annually leads off a busy month of activities for members of the Penn State Block and Bridle Club. After the contest, students prepared bulls for the Pennsylvania Meat Animal Evaluation Center Performance Tested Bull Sale and then continued preparations for their annual Little International Livestock Exposition to be held on Saturday, April 13, also at the Ag Arena.

Under the direction of Brian McAllister (senior, dairy and animal science, Centre Hall) and Keith Bryan, instructor and coach of the Penn State Livestock Judging Team, the contest tested the skills of youth interested in judging livestock.

Members of the 1995 Penn State Livestock Judging Team served as officials for the contest. Swine officials were Jennifer Sweitzer (senior, ag business management, Glen Rock) and Todd Rabenold (senior, dairy and animal science, Kutztown). Sheep officials were Christopher Kling (senior, dairy and animal science, Hope, N.J.) and Jay Brehm (senior, dairy and animal science, Windber). Beef officials were Brian Hrutkay (senior, dairy and animal science, Bentleyville) and Scott Brown (senior, dairy and animal science, Mill Creek).

Kim Black (senior, dairy and animal science, Tionesta) assisted other faculty and students with tabulation. Also, coaches of 4-H teams served as officials for the collegiate professional Division that included students competing for a place on the 1996 Penn State Livestock Judging Team that will compete in one more contest during spring semester and several contests during fall semester.

Contestants were required to place six classes, including crossbred heifers, Angus heifers, Dorset yearling ewes, Dorset ewes, market barrows, and Yorkshire gilts.

Although the primary purpose of the contest is to provide an opportunity for youth to enhance their ability to evaluate livestock, the contest also serves as a forum to draw young people from across the commonwealth to Penn State to view the quality livestock that are produced at the land-grant institution, and to encourage students to consider Penn State in their future educational plans.

More than 25 teams and 59 individuals competed in the junior advanced Division which included placing the six classes of livestock and delivering three sets of oral reasons to official judges. More than 200 contestants representing 65 teams competed in the junior beginner Division, which required placing the six classes. Thirty-one contestants competed in the collegiate amateur and professional Divisions.

Following are the results of the contest.

With Cargill you get complete nutrition management program - not just feed.
Noah B. Sharp of Belleville, PA has seen the benefits of this process over the last year.

"I have been feeding Nutrena products from Cargill for a little over a year. I've seen improved body condition, better peaks and more persistency. By using the Nutri-Boost amino acid program I have been able to use other new technologies available to dairy farmers. With the Herd Builder calf and heifer program we are raising better replacements that grow faster and healthier. With the Catapult Dry and Fresh Cow program our cows start out the lactation better and peak higher. On test day, there have been several cows over 130 lbs. and this happens to some cows 3 or 4 months in a row. Last August I had 10 cows out of 39 over 100 lbs. for the tester and another 5 over 90 lbs. Much better than I expected in the heat."

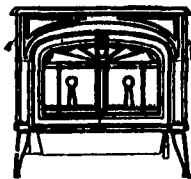

More and more dairy operations throughout Pennsylvania, are realizing increased production, better health, and more profit by using a total Nutrition Management Program from Cargill. For more information call us.

Brosius Speaks At Atlantic Dairy Meeting

SOUTHAMPTON (Bucks Co.) — The future of Pennsylvania's dairy industry depends on change, both on the farm and in the way the state markets its agricultural products, according to Pennsylvania Secretary of Agriculture Charles C. Brosius.

Speaking at a gathering of Atlantic Dairy Cooperative members March 28 at the West Fallowfield Christian School in Cochran-ville, Brosius urged farmers to adapt to change as one means to increase profitability.

"Change is upon us," Brosius said. "If you, as farmers, are doing things today the same way you did five years ago, you already have a recipe for failure."

A former dairy farmer now mushroom grower, Brosius said that change is necessary for farmers to stay competitive and to keep family farm operations in business. Farmers need to stay on the cutting edge of technology.

One of the greatest fallacies we have is that if we keep doing things the same way, we'll eventually get different results," he said.

The same is true of the state's overall agriculture industry. According to Brosius, one of the largest opportunities to enhance farmer income is the introduction of new products and the expansion of overseas markets.

"Ninety-six percent of the consumers in the world in the world live outside the United States," Brosius said. "It doesn't take much to recognize that we—Pennsylvania farmers and food processors—had better be players in the international market."

Gov. Tom Ridge has expressed his support of increasing exporting opportunities for the state's agricultural industry. U.S. exports are expected to reach nearly $60 billion in 1996, and Pennsylvania farmers need to be a part of this market expansion, Brosius said.

The secretary also reported on the state's proposed budget, which calls for slight increases in the Department of Agriculture's budget for marketing and export programs and research. The governor has also proposed an increase in Penn State's budget for research and extension services, although the total university budget remains flat, Brosius said.

Also, Gov. Ridge has proposed an additional $10 million for farmland preservation in Pennsylvania. "This is an increase of over 30 percent from last year," Brosius said, "and a clear commitment on his part (Ridge) to preserve our most valuable resource."

Promoting agriculture and increasing farm profitability is a goal of the Department of Agriculture. "We want to work together with you in production agriculture to assure a successful future," Brosius said.

HERD BUILDER

HEIFER FEEDS BY NUTRENA

Robert Davis (Cargill), Kathy St. John, John St. John.
DHIA RHA: 24,324 lbs, 861 F, 798 P — 150 Cows.

The Cargill Herd Builder Program - designed to bring your dairy replacements into the milking herd at 22 months of age at mature body size. The results speak for themselves at Thunder Valley Farms in New London, PA.

"We were apprehensive about changing to Herd Builder last year, but we were surprised at how fast the calves take off. At 2 to 3 days of age our calves are eating Herd Builder Starter. We are seeing a better grown heifer calf without the 'hay belly' we used to see. We find the calves wean easier and we are able to wean sooner. With the Herd Builder feeds the calves appetites are easily satisfied. Recently, we tried Cargill's new Half-Time milk replacer and found our calves ate even more calf starter earlier allowing us to wean even sooner. This will help us cut back on Milk Replacer costs and raise a healthier calf."

"As a result of the Herd Builder program I am now breeding by body size and not by the calendar. I am getting the heifers to breeding size in 13 months — at least two months sooner. We are pleased with the Herd Builder program and the results from our Cargill nutrition program for the milking herd. Our Cargill representative [Robert Davis, Cochranville, PA] has shown a lot of interest in our operation. He brings us good recommendations, convinces us to adapt new management practices that are profitable, and challenges us to set new management goals."

Tractor and Farm Machinery Safety

Beginning on April 22, Chester County Extension will offer a 14-hour course on tractor and farm machinery safety primarily for youth between the ages of 14 and 16.

For those successfully completing the course, a Pa. Department of Labor certificate will be issued which permits students over 14 years old, but not yet 16, to work on a farm other than their parents'. There is no age restriction for boys and girls working for their parents, but the program is strongly recommended for the safety lessons that are taught.

The sessions will be held at the Vo-Ag Department of Octorara

High School, Rt. 41 and Highland Road, on April 22, 23, 29 and 30, from 6:30-9 p.m. with the final written and driving tests taking place on Saturday, May 4, from 8 a.m. to noon. The cost is $10.

Walter Wurster, extension agent; Ivan Stauffer, Octorara Vo-Ag teacher; and Trooper Carlisle Rivers, Pa. State Police, will be the instructors.

There will be hands-on experience on tractor maintenance checks, hitching, and backing 2- and 4-wheel implements. For more information and registration, contact Walter Wurster, Chester County Extension, at (610) 696-3500, by April 17.

Stray Voltage

When a dairy farmer has a drop in production and is searching for a reason, stray voltage is often suspected. In reality, the loss in milk is usually due to nutrition, herd health, or management changes.

It is easy to blame the power company for the problem and to seek an instant solution to a multitude of problems.

Don't get me wrong, there is stray voltage out there, but it is not nearly as prevalent as farmers tend to believe.

The main symptom that indicates stray voltage may be a problem is abnormal animal behavior. Examples are:

- Animals avoid a waterer or feeder.
- Unusual drinking or eating behavior at a waterer or feeder.
- Confined animals dance on their feet, constantly shifting their weight.
- Animals appear uncomfortable and difficult to handle.
- Animals are reluctant to enter a milking parlor or barn.
- Animals run or jump out of a building area quickly when released.

Long-term symptoms could include lower milk production and/or mastitis due to the stress that the cows are experiencing. However, there are many other factors that could cause these problems.

If stray voltage is suspected, a test should be conducted by the dairy's fieldman, a milking equipment technician, a knowledgeable electrician, or an extension agent.

This can be done with a regular voltage meter testing between an independent ground rod and the main panel's ground wire, or by using a recording meter that will plot the voltage over a period of 5-7 days. If voltage is consistently over 1 volt, further tests should be done to pinpoint the source.

Very often the source is an on-farm problem due to poor or corroded connections and/or poorly grounded circuits. The power company may be the source when the farm is a distance from the power company's substation and when there have been too many new homes or businesses recently added to an undersized neutral line.

Stray voltage is sometimes like a ghost — here today, gone tomorrow.

AJCA Awards Research Grants

REYNOLDSBURG, Ohio — At their March 1996 meeting, the board of directors of the American Jersey Cattle Association awarded $42,000 to finance eight Jersey-related research projects.

Funding was made available from interest income of the AJCC Research Foundation.

Qualifying proposals were selected from a field of 18 based on their relevance to Jersey research priorities.

Those priorities included nutrition of high-producing Jerseys (particularly practical feeding methods to maximize production of valuable milk components); factors affecting yield of products manufactured from Jersey milk; factors affecting net income, longevity, and lifetime profit; optimal young sire usage; biological and economic efficiencies of Jerseys; and factors affecting management of Jersey calves.

Researchers and their respective institutions will receive the designated funds to conduct the investigations. The recipients are listed by name of researcher, institution, project and amount the AJCA is contributing.

Feed Division

"The whole key with our cows is that they will eat the feed. Before feeding with Cargill this was a problem for many years." ROBERT NOLAN

Nutrition management has many faces. Dairy farming is accomplished successfully by many diverse management styles. The Cargill Feed Division meets the demand for flexibility for Pennsylvania.

Robert and Sharon Nolan have been better able to meet their goals with this flexibility. The Nolan's milk three different herd. - Jerseys, Ayrshires, and Holsteins. Results in the past year with Cargill speak for themselves:

13 Jerseys 12,772 lbs. RHA, 674 F, 507 P 5/5/95 ~ 17303 lbs. RHA, 765 F, 619 P 1/4/96

28 Ayrshires 13,655 lbs. RHA, 548 F, 463 P 1/3/95 ~ 16815 lbs. RHA, 592 F, 570 P 1/4/96

46 Holsteins 17,555 lbs. RHA, 647 F, 572 JP 1/6/95 ~ 20,364 lbs. RHA, 656 F, 656, P 2/2/96

STRONGSVILLE, Ohio — Milk Marketing Inc. (MMI) is distributing more than $4.1 million in patronage earnings to its dairy farm families this month, announced Don Schriver, executive vice president and chief executive officer, and Herman Brubaker, chair and president of MMI's board of directors.

More than $1 million is in cash, Schriver said. Checks were mailed March 14. More than $3 million is being distributed as certificates of equity, redeemable at the discretion of the board of directors.

"Over the past three fiscal years, MMI has returned to member farmers a total of $21.9 million in cash, over and above regular milk checks," Schriver noted. "These payments included cash allocation of patronage dividends of $5.2 million, and redemption of certificates of equity and indebtedness of $16.7 million."

For the 1994-95 fiscal year, "51 percent of earnings have been paid in cash," Schriver said. "This month's allocation brings total earnings issued to members to $6.3 million for the 1994-95 fiscal year, or nearly 14 cents per hundred pounds of milk."

That $6.3 million includes a $2.2 million cash payout last September.

"We are pleased to be able to return these earnings during tough times for dairy farmers," said Brubaker, a dairy producer from West Alexandria, Ohio. "This is definitely a benefit of cooperative membership."

The earnings distribution is based on the actual milk pounds that producers marketed through MMI during the period of July 1, 1994 through June 30, 1995, Schriver explained.

In fiscal 1994-95, MMI marketed and processed more than 7.1 billion pounds or 824 million gallons of milk and generated revenues of just over $1 billion.

MMI is the region's largest dairy producer-owned cooperative and the 12th largest U.S. dairy food company. Headquartered in Strongsville, Ohio, MMI is owned by 9,000 dairy farm families in an 11-state area, including Ohio, Indiana, Pennsylvania, Kentucky, Maryland, Michigan, New York, West Virginia, Massachusetts, Vermont and Delaware.

WARNING!

An odorless, colorless, invisible--and costly-- forage thief!

You can't see it--and you can't stop it. Storage losses in forage can steal your valuable crop--how much is lost depends upon how you store your feed.

- Tower Silos have Up to 8% loss*
- Bunkers have Up to 45% loss

If the average difference in feed lost between tower silos and bunkers is 30%, then storage of 1000 tons will mean 300 tons MORE lost in a bunker. If silage is valued at $30 per ton, the additional losses from bunker storage would be $9000 per year.

For information on losses for all types of crop storage methods, contact the Crop Storage Institute for your free copy of "Methods of Crop Storage" and "Know the Facts."

Mary Kelly Earns Degree From 'Chocolate College'

LOU ANN GOOD

Lancaster Farming Staff
QUAKERTOWN (Bucks Co.)

"I'll eat anything as long as it's chocolate," is Mary Kelly's motto. If anyone is lucky enough to sample a few of Mary's chocolates, he or she will adopt that motto by inserting "as long as it is Mary Kelly's chocolates."

Her homemade chocolates are made with only the finest ingredients of butter, cream, chocolate, and nuts.

Mary's success in chocolate making is tied to the nostalgia associated with savoring chocolate candy as a child.

As a child growing up in war-torn England, candy was rationed. But whenever Mary's mother went to the store she used her cherished coupons to purchase a small bag of candy.

"That was our big treat for the week," Mary said as she recalled how the candy was divided up among the family. The family gathered around the radio to listen to Saturday night theater and savor a piece of chocolate candy.

Despite the war, Mary's childhood in the country was relatively unmarred by bombs and destruction. The main hardship was the limited amount of food and clothing available.

Occasionally, the family received packages from relatives living in the U.S.

"I thought the U.S. must be a marvelous place because we received cans of peaches, candy, and food that we did not have in England," Mary said.

Mary's yen to live in the U.S. grew, and when she was 19, her aunt offered to sponsor her immigrant status to Ohio.

Shortly before her departure, a chance meeting changed Mary's life forever. She met fellow countryman Mike Kelly, who was leaving for the U.S. within a week.

"I came to the U.S. in March, was engaged in April, and married in May on my 20th birthday," Mary said.

Mike's job as a RCA electronics technician required several moves around the country. When the family expanded to include three children, Mary grew homesick for her parents and siblings who had remained in England.

"In England our family had lived in a farmhouse built in the 1600s, and people came from afar to admire it. Here (in the U.S.) the buildings were so new. I missed the old buildings and my family," Mary said.

She returned to England with the children while her husband completed an assignment in New England. He rejoined the family in England and attempted to settle there but missed the U.S.

So the Kellys returned to the U.S. and settled in New Jersey. This time, Mary's parents accompanied them and brought a semblance of extended family life to the states that she craved.

"Then Mike got a hankering to have a farm. I was raised on a farm and I knew it was hard work," Mary said of her hesitancy to commit herself to farming.

She remembered the days of pitching hay with a hay fork and quite a different style of farming than what her husband had in mind.

Mike persisted. The Kellys purchased a farm in Quakertown, where they have lived for 25 years and have raised their five children. The children are now adults (one is deceased) and the Kellys have nine grandchildren. The Kellys no longer raise livestock. Instead, they raise hay.

"It's a great place to raise children and I like it here," Mary said of the secluded farm with tree stands, a pond, and rolling acres. Although the setting seems extremely secluded, the farm is actually only about one mile off heavily traveled Route 309.

It was during those busy years on the farm that Mary got into candy making in a big way. A local hardware store had offered a candy-making demonstration. Mary enjoyed making the candy but she didn't like the taste of the chocolate used. She sent away for an instruction book and started perfecting her technique by using a marble slab for cooling the chocolate and tempering chocolate.

As soon as she started giving some of her candies as gifts, the word spread and calls came in for requests. She was often asked to give candy demonstrations to groups. She took a course on chocolate making in Switzerland and often jokes that she went to "Chocolate College."

Using a double boiler was cumbersome, and Mary invested in a Hillard's chocolate machine that cost $1,200. The machine melts and holds the temperature of the chocolate all day. It operates on 200 watt light bulbs.

"Tempered chocolate tastes so much better than coating chocolate and it has no preservatives," Mary said. Tempered chocolate prevents a molted white sheen from forming on the candy. The chocolate is slowly brought to 120 degrees, then poured on a marble slab or on the countertop. It is then smoothed out with a spatula. As it starts to thicken, scrape up and put back into double boiler. It should be reheated to between 82-94 degrees depending on the type of chocolate used. A candy thermometer should always be used. When the correct temperature is reached, remove from the double boiler and set pan on heating pad to hold the heat. Dip fast. If the chocolate is too thick it is too cool. If it is too runny, it is too hot.

For many years Mary sold candy under the label Kelly's Chocolates and Sweets. Her specialty was truffles, which she made in 14 different flavors. "I used the heaviest cream available," Mary said of her commitment to using only the finest ingredients.

She supplied gourmet shops, wedding caterers, and others with 30 different kinds of chocolates. She looked for unique molds because she found that whimsical and nostalgic candy always sells.

One of her most popular candies is called Chocolate Almond Crunch, which she developed herself through trial and error.

During this time, Mary slipped into the catering business without intending to do so. When a friend needed a caterer, Mary offered to make English tarts, tea sandwiches, and other specialty dishes. Immediately she was flooded with requests for weddings, parties, and large elaborate affairs.

"I used the best of ingredients and didn't scrimp," Mary said. She hated to charge what she thought was outrageous prices, and finally came to the realization that catering is lots of hard work and not very profitable if she wasn't willing to increase her prices.

By this time she had more grandchildren who she dearly loves. Between babysitting them and attending to her other affairs, Mary has put both her candy making business and her catering business on hold. But she still finds time to make several batches of candy for family and friends.

Mary isn't about to divulge her secret recipes in case she ever decides to do something with them again, but she has contributed these recipes for Opera Cream and Coconut Cremes.

Opera Cream

2 pounds confectioners' sugar
8-ounces cream cheese
½ pound butter
2 teaspoons vanilla
Beat together ingredients. Form into balls and chill. Dip balls into the following mixture:
1 pound semi-sweet baker's chocolate
2 tablespoons shortening
Cool on waxed paper. Makes 4 dozen.

Coconut Cremes

8 ounces cream cheese
1 pound confectioners' sugar
½ pound butter
1 teaspoon coconut extract (optional)
1 large bag coconut
Beat together cream cheese, sugar, butter, and extract. Form into balls and roll in coconut. Refrigerate.

Through trial and error, Mary developed the best ever Chocolate Almond Crunch. It's her secret recipe, one that chocolate indulgers long savor the flavor.

HOMESTEAD NOTES

On Being a Farm Wife (and other hazards) Joyce Bupp

Though the night was a dark one, enough light shone out through the living room window to identify the objects on the front porch.

Eggs. Seemingly arranged in a ragged semi-circle around a darker object. I knew the darker object on the porch floor was a robin-sized bird's nest. But when I'd left earlier, the eggs had been piled together in the nest.

A few days before, The Farmer had found the well-preserved birds' nest while repairing some storm damage to the barn roof. Moments later, Bobby, one of our employees, joked that he had eggs to put in it. And sure enough, scattered around on a patch of straw in a haymow were several white "pullet eggs," small ones of the size usually laid by young hens.

Since the eggs' freshness was highly questionable, Bobby rejected my suggestions that I'd color and hide them if he would hunt and eat them. Finding no takers for that offer and with Easter season approaching, I tucked the probably-well-aged eggs into the birds' nest and plunked the whole thing on the front porch for a sort of seasonal conversation piece.

Egg-hiding season lasts year-round in our barn, but picks up speed as the "broody" season gets underway. That when hens' hormones kick in to tell them to lay a nest of eggs and brood, or hatch, them. We have but a few petite hens in our inbred small flock of chickens. Roosters predominate instead, many of them approaching such age that they'd probably still be taught as shoe leather even after several hours in the pressure cooker.

So while the shy, secretive hens are busy with their clutches of eggs, our noisy, arrogant roosters spend their days strutting around the yard. Leaves fly as they scratch at piles of dead leaves for hapless bugs hunkering underneath. They root at the sawdust near the woodpile and peck around the freshly-cleaned flower borders.

Favorite fast food spot of the roosters is under the bird feeder in the yard. Between the greedy-grabbiness of our resident mother squirrel and the squabbling sparrows, there are always plenty of black oil sunflower seeds on the ground under the feeder. Some of the seeds will drop down into the woodchip mulch at the base of the tree, giving the roosters incentive to scratch the wood chips hither and yon across the grass. Every few weeks, I take the yard rake and rake the mulch back 'round the tree trunk where it belongs. And the rooster and the squabbling sparrows, there are always plenty of black oil sunflower seeds on the ground under the feeder. Some of the seeds will drop down into the woodchip mulch at the base of the tree, giving the roosters incentive to scratch the wood chips hither and yon across the grass. Every few weeks, I take the yard rake and rake the mulch back 'round the tree trunk where it belongs. And the roosters come along and scratch it back out. Dueling mulch, so to speak.

But it wasn't roosters that had scratched these eggs out of the nest and onto the porch.

A closer look, with the light turned on, showed that what appeared as being neatly arranged at first glance was actually more haphazard. One egg was broken and its contents mostly removed. Others had probably been rolled out of the nest.

"Maybe the dog," suggested The Farmer at my puzzlement. Solomon, aging pooch that he is, doesn't usually commit such shenanigans.

Thoughts of a weasel passed through my mind, since these tiny mischief-makers seem to be staging a comeback. But it doesn't seem likely one would mess around the porch. Same for a raccoon.

More likely, I decided, was the big gray and white stray tomcat that often sniffs out foodscraps tossed into the field to decompose into organic matter. He's tame enough to hang around, but too wild to come within petting distance. He seemed a likely culprit.

We'll obviously never know eggs-actly what critter messed with the front porch nest. You don't suppose it was a delinquent bunny, robbing nests instead of filling them?

If so, I wish he'd come back and get the eggs that nearly fell on my head when I yanked the bale of straw out of the mow this morning.

Financial Record Keeping

Did you know that ... Trouble free keeping and retrieving of important records is essential in today's world of endless personal papers, financial records, and legal documents.

Was filling out your income tax forms this year especially frustrating? Did gathering information to compile your net worth statement seem an endless task? Better record keeping is one way to save time, energy, and undue anxiety.

Good record keeping can be as asset, too, in improving your family finances. Accurate records are useful in making decisions on credit use, insurance, major purchases, and money designated for longer term goals.

Creating an efficient filing system is the first step to improving your record keeping. A filing system for your family's financial records doesn't have to be elaborate, costly, or time consuming. Setting up a series of folders, envelopes or large brown paper bags cut down, is really three-fourths the work. Use labels that make sense to you and will help you find the information when needed.

Include in your current household files, account books, bank statements, cancelled checks, receipts and receipted bills.

Permanent household filing systems should contain receipts and receipted bills for the past six years, your safe deposit box number, key and list of contents, warranties, letters of instruction and copies of your will, household inventory, health, education, and employment records. All of these items may be needed in a hurry in the event of accident or financial crisis; be sure all your family members are acquainted with the files.

You might also note that certain financial records do not belong in your home. Your auto title and bill of sale, birth certificates, and marriage and divorce records, government securities, corporate securities, insurance policies, mortgages, property and real estate papers, and for Pennsylvanians, the original copy of your will should all be secured in a safe deposit box.

In your filing system, include a separate envelope for anything concerned with taxes. As well as last year's return, file records of items that may be used as deductions that year. Include incidental expenses, such as miles traveled on a trip to the doctor or the cost of a lunch purchased for a business client.

Having a good record storage and retrieval system will prevent potential deductions from being lost in the shuffle and save you time, energy and frustration whenever financial records need to be located. Involve family members in designing a center and system. Devise your own system now and follow through with it throughout the year; have your family's financial picture at your fingertips.

Prune Blueberries

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — Blueberry growing requires pruning, maintenance of high soil acidity, and weed, insect and disease control. Blueberries begin to produce fruit in the third season and normally do not need to be pruned the first three years. During the fourth year, the dormant plants should be pruned in mid-March.

At this time remove dead and weak branches and thin, terminal wood with small buds. Prune interior crossing branches to admit light to the center of the plant. In subsequent years, pruning should thin out older branches to force new growth. Tall-growing branches can be headed back and thin branches removed.

For more information on backyard blueberry culture, contact Penn State Cooperative Extension.

Planting Herbs in the Garden

This is the third article in a series of growing herbs. Gardeners find growing fresh herbs a rite of spring.

Growing herbs in a garden plot that is 20 by 4 foot wide is generally preferred for a kitchen herb garden. Space each type of herb in 4 foot wide blocks. Space each plant 12 to 18" apart.

Some of the more colorful and frequently used herbs like parsley and purple basil might be used in a landscape border. Separate your annual herbs like borage and snice from perennial herbs like catnip and chives. Make a diagram of the area and label each plant so that the whole family can harvest.

All newly planted herb seedlings should be kept moist until well established. While some herbs can tolerate extremely dry conditions, none can do so without a well-established root system.

For herb seeds sown directly in the garden, keep seeded areas evenly moist but not wet. Do not allow the soil to become either waterlogged or too dry.

A few herbs, such as mints, need to be contained or they will take over neighboring garden plots. Plant these aggressive herbs in 3 to 5 gallon pots with holes for drainage or with the bottom cut out. Then bury the potted plant in the garden. The rim of the pot should protrude an inch or so out of the ground to prevent above-ground runners from quickly spreading. Prune creeping stems so they do not run into neighboring plots and take root. Sunken pots should then help confine the plants for a few years.

Very few disease or insects attack herbs, but rust infects mints. In hot dry weather, red spider mites may be found on low-growing plants. Also, aphids may attack anise, caraway, dill and fennel, while Japanese beetles like basil, borage and sorrel.

Most herbs require little care, but to prolong their life span, pinch flowers as they appear at the bud stage. Spreading plants, such as basil and mints, can be pinched for full growth. Picking off spent flowers is usually not required because most plants flower, then die. The flowers in many cases are harvested for their fragrance, beauty, or culinary use before they fade. Since dead leaves and stems left on the plant can attract pests and allow mold to grow, it is best to prune dying or dead foliage.

Control weeds by laying a 3-inch layer of organic mulch after the herbs have been planted. Finer mulch materials like compost, peat moss, peanut hulls, shredded bark or others help to hold in moisture and deter self-seeding of plants where they are not wanted.

Questions on the above may be directed to Thomas S. Becker, Extension Agent — Horticulture, 112 Pleasant Acres Road, York PA 17402. Phone number is (717) 840-7408.

CHORE-TIME

...nobody knows more about feeding

Chore-Time Model ATF Feeder with polypropylene pan shown. Also available with galvanized steel pan.

The Right Choice in turkey feeders

RUGGED POLYPROPYLENE construction of Model ATF pan is available for permanent corrosion-proofing. Material has an ultra-smooth surface so feed and dirt won't stick, so it stays clean. Our polypropylene also has a special ultraviolet inhibitor. Liberal 5-year pan warranty! Ask for details.

FEED SAVER FEATURES: unique "V" pan shape lets you maintain a low feed level; feed-saver ring: 2 1/2" pan lip to catch feed.

FEED PAN DEPTH on Stage 3 Feeder is 5-1/2 inches; 8-week old birds or the largest toms can reach feed.

New Shape.
The difference... the shape of the feeder's trough (at right). ULTRAFLO II's higher trough lip reduces feed waste by keeping it in the trough and not on the floor or in the pit.

The Right Choice in cage feeders

Chore-Time's popular ULTRAFLO® Cage Feeding System is now even more outstanding! We've developed and tested the second generation of ULTRAFLO feeders and named it the ULTRAFLO® II.

ULTRAFLO II offers you even greater reliability, durability, and outstanding feed-saving performance—up to 1 gram of feed per bird per day—over the original ULTRAFLO. And even the original ULTRAFLO was beating our competitors in feed savings!

So, join the cage feeding leader. Contact us today. Find out how Chore-Time and ULTRAFLO II can help you be a leader, too!

Dining 'Eggcitement'

Any time of the day is a good time to eat eggs.

Breakfast recipes for fried, cooked, and scrambled eggs have always abounded. Now the popular egg casseroles are becoming entrenched in breakfast and brunch menus.

A flavorful mixture of cheeses, vegetables, and spices creates tasty variety to soups and casseroles using eggs.

Yellow mustard eggs are a delightful substitute for red beet eggs at picnics and as a colorful side dish for other meals.

Custards, souffles, and meringue shells are delightful desserts that are sure to satisfy family and friends.

With a little creativity and these recipes, you will add "eggcitement" to your menu.

Beat eggs well in a large bowl. Add salt, vanilla, and nutmeg; stir. Slowly stir milk into egg mixture. Pour into greased baking dish. Set dish in a slightly larger baking pan, add one-inch hot water to pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 55 minutes until set.

1 cup broth
2 egg yolks
½ teaspoon flour
1 tablespoon lemon juice
Trimmed toast

SWEET CHOCOLATE SOUFFLE

6 egg yolks
1 cup sugar
1 cup grated semisweet chocolate
6 egg whites, beaten
Beat yolks and sugar until lemon-colored. Add chocolate. Fold in stiffly beaten whites. Bake in a greased baking dish, set in a pan of hot water, for one hour at 325. Serve with plain or whipped cream.

Souffle Tip: If a bit of yolk gets into a bowl of egg whites, use the edge of an eggshell to scoop it out. Even the smallest amount of yolk will prevent the egg whites from whipping properly.

Naturally great tasting, goat milk products are good for you. Long considered an alternative for those with cow milk sensitivities, goat milk's fine texture and digestibility are due to smaller, naturally homogenized fats. Goat milk also has a higher percentage of short and medium chain fatty acids from cow's milk and is lower in cholesterol and higher in calcium, phosphorus, and vitamins A and B.

If you would like to know where to purchase goat products or would like recipes using goat milk and cheeses, send for information: American Dairy Goat Products Association (ADGPA), P.O. Box 458, W7702 Cty. X, Darien, Wisconsin 53114. Or, call (414) 728-1633 or Fax 414-728-1658.

Here is one selected from a colorful brochure from the ADGPA.

CHIVE AND GOAT CHEESE PUFFS

7 tablespoon butter, cut up
1 cup water
1½ cups flour
¼ teaspoon cayenne
4 eggs
4 ounces soft, fresh goat cheese
2 teaspoons fresh chives, chopped

Put butter and water into saucepan and bring to a boil. Lower heat and stir in flour, salt, and cayenne with a wooden spoon. Leave on low heat for about 8 minutes or until butter coats the bottom of the pan. Remove from heat and put mixture into food processor with eggs and goat cheese. Pulse until blended. Chill. Heat oven to 350 degrees. Roll small balls of the dough and bake for 30 to 35 minutes on a greased cookie sheet. Serve immediately, or cool, split, and stuff with crab or chicken salad.

The dough for these delectable and savory pastries can be made hours ahead and refrigerated.

ANSWER — Two answers were received for the jellied pig feet request from Irene Panker, Mohnton. The Hungarian recipe is from Andrew Dringus, Zion Grove. Another one did not have a name attached, but she wrote: My Lithuanian father had these for breakfast Christmas morning. He sprinkled vinegar over his portion — maybe two or three tablespoons to taste. My daughter-in-law pours about a cup of vinegar into the pot to mix the vinegar with the pig feet just before pouring into the casserole dish and refrigerating. Personally I like the way my father ate his. The bones can be left or removed before putting into a casserole pan in the refrigerator.

Lithuanian Pickled Pig Feet

4 pig feet
1 gallon water
8 whole allspice
4 peppercorns
1 bay leaf
1 clove garlic, optional
1 cup vinegar

Place all ingredients in 6- or 8-quart pot. Bring to a boil, then reduce heat and keep on a slow boil. Boil until meat falls off bones. Pour into glass or stainless steel casserole dish. (9x13-inch). Keep water level above pig feet at all times. Refrigerate overnight.

Hungarian Kocsonya Jellied Pig Feet

3 pounds pig feet or ham hocks (fresh)
1 pound veal cubes
3 or 4 small onions
2 or 3 garlic cloves (optional)
Salt and paprika to taste
1 teaspoon black pepper
2 to 3 stalks celery

Put ingredients into large pot. Cover with water. Bring to a boil and skim.

Simmer until meat falls apart. Takes 4 to 5 hours cooking time.

When done cooking, put several pieces of meat in soup dishes. Strain broth and cover meat with broth. Put in cold place to jell. Do not put celery, onions, and garlic into soup dish.

ANSWER — Tina Forry, Palmyra, wanted a recipe to make taco seasoning. Thanks to Sarah Witmer, Hartly, Del.; Denise Kutz, Pine Grove; and a Geneva, N.Y. reader for sending recipes.

Taco Seasoning Mix

1/2 cup minced onion flakes
4 teaspoons cornstarch
3 tablespoons salt
4 tablespoons chili powder
3 teaspoons ground cumin
1 1/2 teaspoon oregano
3 teaspoons minced garlic (dried)
3 teaspoons crushed red pepper
2 teaspoons beef bouillon

Mix well and store in tight container (2 tablespoons = 1 package).

COUNTRY STYLE OMELETTE

6 eggs
2 tablespoons water
Salt and pepper to taste
Dash paprika
Filling:
1/2 pound pork sausage
1 onion, chopped finely
1 tablespoon butter
2 medium potatoes, shredded
Red bell sweet pepper for garnish

Start with the filling. In a large skillet, saute pork sausage until it is no longer pink, about 5 minutes, breaking up as you stir. Add onion and butter. Saute onion a few minutes until soft, but not brown.

Add shredded potatoes. Stir well and saute a couple minutes more until potatoes are soft but not browned. Beat together eggs, salt, pepper, paprika, and water. Pour mixture over sausage-potato mixture. Cook over medium heat. As soon as eggs begin to set, push cooked portion toward center of pan with spatula, allowing uncooked portion to run under. When eggs are lightly browned on underside and almost set on top, sprinkle with thyme. Garnish with red pepper slices. Serve directly from pan.

MERINGUE SHELLS

2 egg whites
1/2 cup sugar
1 teaspoon vinegar
1 teaspoon vanilla

Beat egg whites until stiff. Add sugar and continue beating. Add vinegar and vanilla. Shape into shells upon brown paper placed over cookie sheet, being careful to have enough batter on bottom of shell for a good foundation. Bake at least one hour in a 275 degree oven.

Filling:

1 1/2 teaspoon Knox gelatin
1 1/2 cups plain cream

Add gelatin to cream. Heat until dissolved but do not boil. Stir continually. Beat yolks of 3 eggs with 1/2 cup sugar. Fold into above cream mixture. Flavor with vanilla and put in ice box until partially set. Add 1/2 pint whipping cream beaten stiff. Cut cake into two layers, spread cream between and on top and sides. If it runs, chill until it holds.

EGGS FOO YONG

5 eggs
1/2 cup green onions, chopped fine
1/2 cup bacon, fried
1/2 cup mushrooms, chopped
1 pint bean sprouts

Fry bacon until crisp. Break into small pieces. Cook mushrooms and green onions in bacon fat for 2 minutes. Drain. Combine all ingredients with slightly beaten eggs, being sure that sprouts are well drained. Drop carefully from tablespoon into shallow pan of hot fat. When one side is brown, turn and brown other side. Serve on hot rice with gravy.

Prune Raspberries

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — Red raspberries should be pruned twice a year, first in spring and immediately after harvest. The spring pruning, in March or early April, consists of removing all weak canes and cutting back all remaining unsupported canes to about 3 to 4 feet.

Black and purple raspberries are pruned three times a year: in the spring, summer, and after fruiting. Lateral branches are cut back to 8 to 10 inches in length in mid-March. For more information contact Penn State Extension.

Rabbit Tales From The Bunny Pen

JOYCE BUPP

York Co. Correspondent

SHREWBURG (York Co.) —

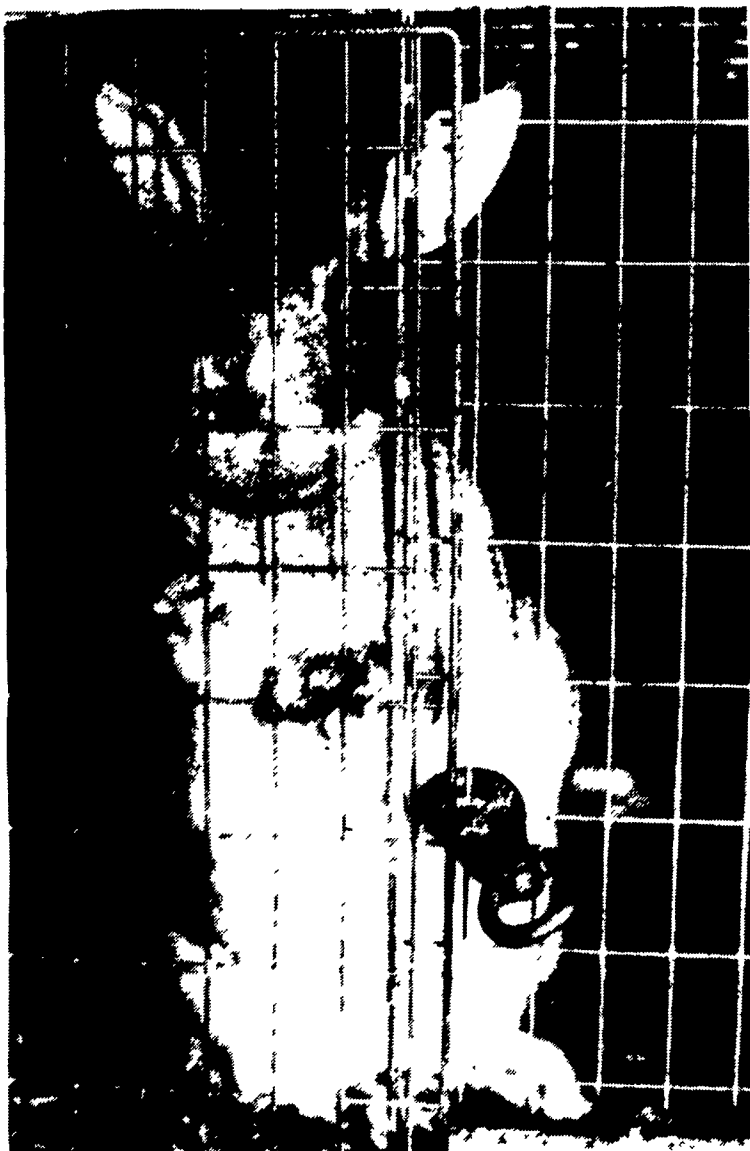

Hi! My name is Clifford. I'm two years old.

I'm a rabbit.

But I'm not just any ordinary rabbit like you might see hopping around your yard or garden. I'm a Chinchilla rabbit. I live at the Golden Rod Rabbitry, with about two dozen of my friends. We're the pets of Lillian Eddinger, who raises and shows us as 4-H club projects.

Lots of people think about rabbits only at Eastertime. Lillian has to think about rabbits every day. As soon as she gets home from school, she comes to the barn to feed us our dinner of tasty pellets, fresh grass hay and fresh bowls of clean, cold water. On weekends, she cleans our individual cages

"Let's hop to it a little faster!" Clifford seems to say, stretching up on his hind feet to see if chow is on the way. Chinchilla rabbits, like Clifford, have gray-colored fur.

Langston is not sure if he wants Lillian to help him pose for a picture. Langston is a Beveren rabbit, a somewhat rare breed with long, silky, white fur.

It's dinner time at the Golden Rod Rabbitry as Lillian Eddinger delivers pellets, hay, and fresh water to her 25 pets.

and fills them with soft wood shavings. Ahh, it always feels so good to stretch out on a newly-made bed.

Lillian is 17, but she got her first rabbit for a pet when she was just a little girl. About six years ago, she decided to start showing rabbits for 4-H. Lillian's first show rabbits were a breed called Champagne. Then she got a Chinchilla, one of my distant relatives.

Besides us Chinchillas, Lillian raises two other kinds of rather unusual rabbits. There are Rhinelanders, which ave white coats speckled with spots of black and brown. Lillian calls their markings a calico pattern. Some of my neighbors in other pens in the barn here are almost a rare breed, called Beverens.

Beveren rabbits have a longer, more silky fur than some rabbits. Lillian's Beverens are white, but some have coats in a very light lilac or blue shade. Others are black and there are even some chocolate-colored ones.

As you can guess, we look different from each other, but we like many of the same things. One of the things we really enjoy is when Lillian spends time, like she does on many days, taking us out of our pens to hold and pet us and to talk to us. She says it makes us more gentle pets and better behaved when we go to the many rabbit shows we attend each year.

Show rabbits must take extra good care of ourselves. We must keep ourselves clean and well-groomed so that we look nice for the judges. Sometimes, Lillian has to give us a bath in the kitchen sink because we get dirty. One of my friends liked his bath so much he stretched out in the warm water and fell asleep! He has long, thick fur and it took Lillian a long time to get his coat dry, even though she used a blow dryer.

One thing I do not like about going to rabbit shows is having my toenails trimmed. But Lillian says they have to be clipped or we will scratch the judges' hands and arms. Judges at the shows must pick up each one of us from the tables and hold us so they can compare our muscles and the thickness and quality of our coats.

After she graduates next year from Susquehannock High School, Lillian plans to study to be a veterinarian. Since she and her family love animals so much, we have lots of other friends that live with us in the Eddinger's barn. There are horses, cats, dogs, four pet goats and different kinds of chickens which Lillian's sister exhibits at 4-H shows.

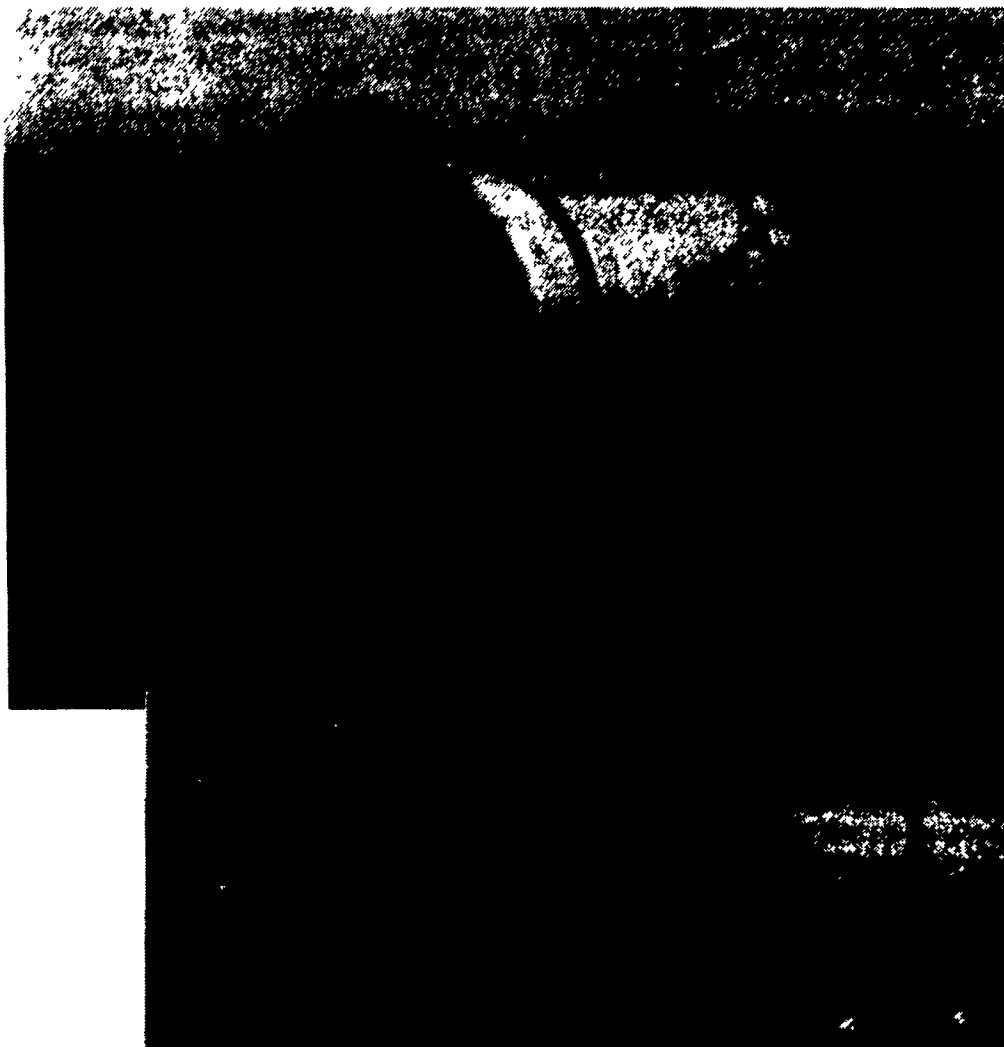

So remember, rabbits are important animals, not just at Easter time, but all year long.

And don't forget — there really are live chocolate rabbits. See if you can find one the next time you visit a rabbit show.

Gardening Becomes America's Favorite Pastime

Regardless of what the motivation is, more and more people are making gardening a part of their lives, making it America's number one pastime.

Tilling

Frequent tilling of your garden aerates the soil and destroys weeds and unwanted garden pests. Using the right equipment for the job is essential. BCS has a tiller for every need, with a full range of attachments that make them useful in the yard as well as the garden.

Caring for Your Garden

- ◆ Cultivate early. The best time to kill weeds is when they sprout.
- ◆ Thin ruthlessly. Leave enough space between plants so they can mature easily.
- ◆ Be careful around the plants. One careless swipe of the hoe can destroy a lot of work and future vegetables.
- ◆ Stay out of a wet garden. Rust disease of beans and other diseases are easily spread when a picker goes through a row of wet plants.
- ◆ Water the ground, not the plants. Wet foliage can cause fungus diseases. Apply water to the base of the plant at sundown, so the heat of the day will not deplete its moisture.
- ◆ Keep weeds under control by tillage or mulching. Weeds take moisture, light and nutrients away from vegetable plants.

I garden about an acre and a half with two other guys; they both use Troy-Bilt®. I bought a BCS. I actually tilled side by side with a Troy-Bilt® in our garden and we could all tell a difference. The BCS tilled the soil finer and completely tilled the soil from side to side. Now the Troy-Bilt® owners want the BCS.

Agri-Women Urge Adoption Of Estate Tax Exclusion

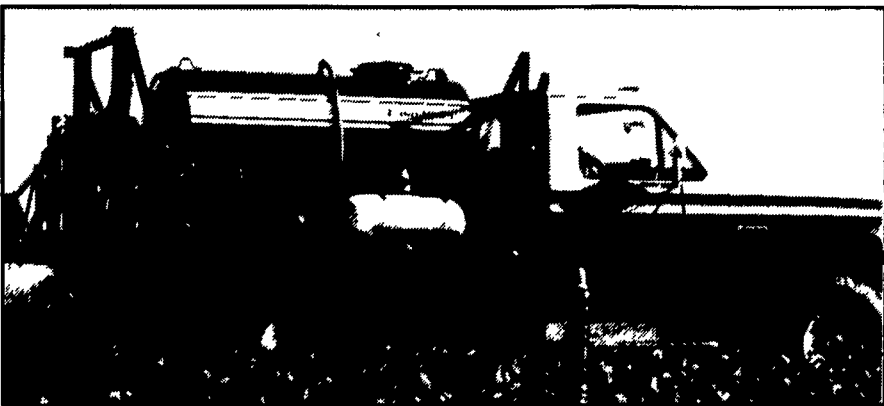

KANORADO, KS. — The proposed increase in the unified credit against estate and gift taxes is a "positive step" according to AAW President Jean Pettibone of Kanorado, Kansas. "The increase in the credit, which would effectively increase the exemption equivalent to $750,000 by the year 2001, would help to mitigate the impact of inflation on the estate tax credit."

Recalling the involvement of the 21-year-old national organization in estate tax reform over the years, Pettibone noted that, "Members of American Agri-Women were in the forefront, aggressively pushing for equity in estate tax legislation, when the current unified estate and gift tax $600,000 exemption equivalent was written into law. An increase to $750,000 plus inflation adjustment after that would help to bring the exemption equivalent up to date."

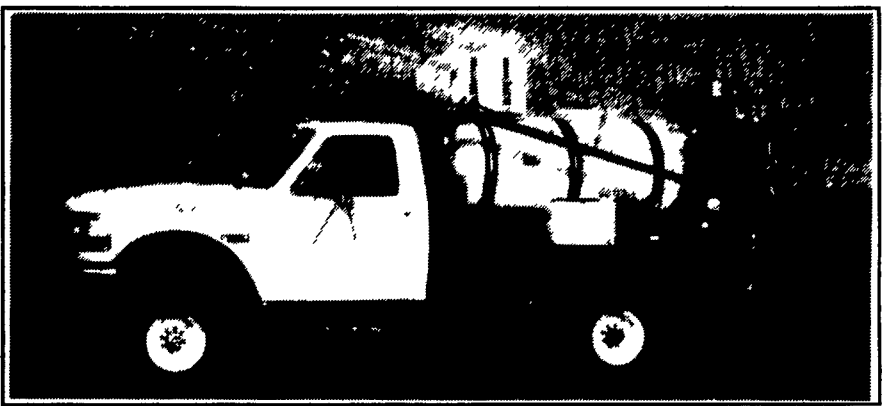

Noting the proposed exclusion from the gross estate for family owned businesses, Pettibone went on to say, "The exclusion of the first million in value, and one half of the next 1.5 million would be a great benefit for farming and ranching families. Without the added burden of estate taxes, the next generation could phase into the family business in a more efficient and business oriented manner."

Outgoing queen Amy Fisher, right, hands over her duties as the Bedford County Lamb and Wool Queen to Trisha Miller.

Trisha Miller Is Bedford County Lamb And Wool Queen

LINDA WILLIAMS
Bedford Co. Correspondent
BEDFORD (Bedford Co.) — A smiling Trisha Miller in a cherry red dress accepted the Bedford County Lamb and Wool crown at a banquet held on Friday evening, March 23, at the Bedford Church of the Brethren.

The daughter of Judy Miller of Schellsburg RD, Trisha is a sophomore at Chestnut Ridge High School, where she is a member of the FFA.

The new queen has her own flock of eight Suffolk sheep which she has shown in the Somerset and Bedford County Jackpot shows as well as the Bedford County Fair. Blue and red ribbons as well as a trophy have made her efforts worthwhile.

Trisha says she diversifies her animal interests with three pigs and several black angus and shorthorn steer.

Outgoing queen, Amy Fisher, told the members of the Lamb and Wool Producers Association of her experiences during the past year.

"I was in many parades," she said, naming them off. "I was also invited by the members of the Bedford County Kiwanis Club to explain the Jackpot show."

Amy showed her own sheep in the Somerset and Bedford Jackpot shows as well as the Bedford County Fair.

She also thanked her "second set of parents," Bill and Ada Myers for getting her involved with sheep. Amy keeps her flock on the Myers farm.

Elected officers for the coming year included Rodney Fisher, president; Elissa Henderson, vice president; Sharon Weaver, secretary/treasurer; and John Ray Koontz and Jack Monsour, directors.

Children attending the roast lamb banquet were treated to magical acts by a local magician.

Grants To Establish Farmers' Market

Philadelphia — Teading Terminal Farmers' Market Trust announced a grant from the W. K. Kellogg Foundation, to better serve inner-city families by developing a sustainable process that integrates community farmers' markets and community-based food and nutrition education. The $125,905 grant will run from February 1, 1996 through January 31, 1998.

The grant will expand the impact of the community farmers' market program and increase the number of people who benefit from the nutrition education network. Through the market program, the Trust helped 13,000 children and families last year. The nutrition education network is reaching over 17,000 school children and inner-city residents this year.

"Many inner-city communities do not have a single supermarket and families find it difficult to provide nutritious fresh food for their children," said Duane Perry, executive director of the Reading Terminal Farmers' Market Trust.

"The Kellogg Foundation funded our pilot project to help children through nutrition education in schools and communities, and their commitment to improving the lives of people will help us extend this innovative program and allow us reach more communities and families."

The community farmers' market program created five markets in inner-city communities where residents could purchase fresh, nutritious foods at reasonable prices, as a pilot project in 1993, 1994 and 1995. The project's goal was to increase access to fresh foods and change people's diets in order to improve their health. A year-long evaluation of the markets, funded by the U.S. Department of Agriculture, found that community market customers are twice the national average of fruits and vegetables each day.

Berks County Creed And Interview Contest

Recently, 16 members of the Twin Valley FFA chapter traveled to Oley Valley High School to compete in the Berks County FFA creed speaking and interview contests.

Members of the FFA from Conrad Weiser, Kutztown, Oley Valley, and Tulpehocken High School were also presented to participate in the contests.

The creed speaking contest is for first-year FFA members. Contestants recite the National FFA creed.

This contest is judged on the student's ability to recite the creed as well as answer questions on its meaning. The judges scored the members on their knowledge and understanding of the creed as well as speaking ability and poise.

This year six members of the Twin Valley FFA participated. Placing 6th and 7th respectively were Valerie Lanser and Jamie Powell. John Hartz, Sara Marks, Taylor Muzzy, and Julie Peterson also did a commendable job.

The interview contest was open to all members of the FFA. The contest is a mock interview which helps prepare the students for obtaining a job in the working world. In addition to conducting a mock job interview, the students must submit a letter of application and a job application.

The students are asked questions about the job they have selected, such as experience and reasons why they think they are the best person for the job. For the second year in a row, Lynn Hepner, a Twin Valley FFA member, has ranked first place. The second, fourth, and sixth places also went to Twin Valley students Keely DeMarco, Megan Charron, and Kate Collmann, respectively. The following Twin Valley FFA members also did an outstanding job in this contest: Amanda Amoros, Megan Binasiewicz, Adam Cordonnier, Lynette Ichenhower, Melissa Kegerise, and Raina Olexa.

The "heart" of any field cultivator is the shank pivot point. A "bulked up" shank bracket made of cast ductile iron instead of the usual formed steel bracket, incorporated a hardened steel bushing AND a zerk grease fitting to lubricate the pivot point to reduce wear. The result is thousands of acres of extended life of the shanks.

COMPACTION COMMANDERS NO-TILL RIPPER/DEEP RIPPER DESIGNED FOR YOUR CONSERVATION NEEDS 3-5-7 Shank

Brillion introduces their new Compaction Commander...designed to break up hardpan and compaction as deep as 20". The standard V-shaped alloy point and wear strip leaves residue on the surface with minimal soil disturbance. Auto-rest shanks with 20" of trip height allows for non-stop tillage. Parabolic shanks lift and fracture the soil. 39" of underframe clearance assures trouble free operation even in heavy residue.

MEETS THE CHALLENGE

You ask We answer

ANSWER — Josephine Shoemaker, Chambersburg, wanted the words to an old poem, which Ida Risser referred to in her column recently. Thanks to John Hostetter, Hagerstown, Md.; Rachel Himmelberger, Fleetwood; Anna Mary Rohrer, East Berlin; Blanche Morgan, Hegins; Mrs. Clyde Stauffer, Port Trevorton; a Selingsgrove reader, and others for sending the words.

The Brook

*I come from haunts of coot and hern,
I make a sudden salty,
And sparkle out among the fern,
To bicker down a valley.*

*By thirty hills I hurry down,
Or slip between the ridges,
By twenty thorps, a little town,
And half a hundred bridges.*

*Till last by Phillip's farm I flow
To join the brimming river,
For men may come and men may go,
But I go on forever.*

*I chatter over stony ways,
In little sharps and trebbles,
I bubble into eddying bays,
I babble on the pebbles.*

*With many a curve my banks I fret
By many a field and fallow,
And many a fairy foreland set
With willow-weed and mallow.*

*I chatter, chatter, as I flow
To join the brimming river,
For men may come and men may go,
But I go on forever.*

*I wind about and in and out,
With here a blossom sailing,
And here and there a lusty trout,
And here and there a grayling.*

*And here and there a foamy flake
Upon me, as I travel
With many a silvery water-break
Above the golden gravel.*

*And draw them all along and flow
To join the brimming river,*

Can you guess what is one of the hottest items on sale at your local supermarket these days? If you said, convenience, you were right. But convenience carries a price tag, and can add tremendously to the overall food budget.

Today, supermarkets are stocking their shelves with convenience foods which include pre-sliced vegetables, ready-for-the-grill shish kebab, hot soups and entrees, deli foods, salad bars, and even hot pizza, and gourmet desserts.

'Who's buying them? Just about everyone. Selling convenience is big business because everyone, at one time or another, will run out of time. But convenience can be expensive. Consider:

- Homemade macaroni and cheese made with noodles and pasteurized cheese spread costs about 26 to 30 cents a serving. Frozen macaroni and cheese entrees can cost $1.49 or more per serving. Macaroni and cheese from the deli section can cost $1.69 to $1.75 a serving.

- Sliced turkey from the deli department costs about $5.60 a pound. Fresh turkey breast roasted at home costs $1.30 a pound.

- Fresh carrots about 39 cents a pound. Sliced, packaged fresh carrots are $1.12 a pound. Plus, their quality started to deteriorate after being cleaned and cut.

Supermarkets are using convenience foods to regain consumer dollars that used to be spent on groceries but are now spent on food eaten away from home. The cost of the added convenience means the grocery bill goes more for service and taste and less for basic food needs.

If you're buying convenience foods rather than eating out, you may come out ahead of the game. But if convenience foods are becoming a regular and large part of your shopping list, you may be spending more than you want, or can afford, to save a few minutes in a day.

There are ways to get out of this "convenience syndrome" that can cut the food bill without adding a lot of time and work to an already overburdened schedule such as:

- Develop a repertoire of fast recipes. Many pasta dishes, broiled fish and meats, and stir-fried vegetables can be cooked in less time than you would spend getting in and out of the supermarket to buy prepared foods.

- Keep supplies on hand for your favorite dishes. Save more by stocking up when items are on sale.

- Give otherwise plain foods a special look, but don't waste time on complicated sauces and garnishes. A topping of fresh grated cheese is as tasty as a cheese sauce, and a dollop of yogurt on fresh fruits for dessert is fast and nutritious.

- Follow the lead of trendy restaurants. Emphasize fresh, fast, and light dishes. Serve raw vegetables and fresh fruits. Feature salads and vegetable combinations that can be quickly steamed, stir-fried, or microwave for fast, low-fat main dishes.

*For men may come and men may go,
But I go on forever.*

*I stale by lawns and grassy plots,
I slide by hazel covers;
I move the sweet forget-me-nots
That grow for happy lovers.*

*I slip, I slide, I gloom, I glance,
Among my skimming swallows;
I make the netted sunbeam dance
Against my sandy shallows.*

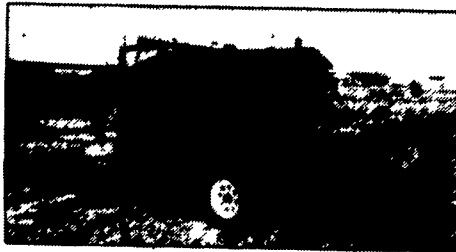

*I murmur under moon and stars
In brambly wildernesses;
I linger by my shingly bars,
I loiter round my cresses;*

*And out again I curve and flow
To join the brimming river,
For men may come and men may go,
But I go on forever.*

Cook's Question Corner

ANSWER — Alton Dickinson, Bethlehem, wanted a recipe for Italian bread or rolls that are hand mixed and kneaded making 4-6 loaves. Thanks to a Geneva, N.Y. reader and Mrs. D. Fisher, Lewistown, for sending recipes.

Italian Bread

Dissolve together:

- 2 cups warm water
- 2 tablespoons yeast
- 2 tablespoons sugar

Add:

- 2 teaspoons salt
- 5 cups flour

Knead in the flour gradually. This requires more flour than regular bread, giving it a firmer texture. Let rise one hour. Shape into loaves or rolls. Let rise until double in size. Bake at 400 degrees for 25-30 minutes. Will make three medium loaves.

Italian Bread or Rolls

- 4½ to 5½ cups all-purpose flour
- 1 tablespoon salt
- 1 tablespoon sugar
- 2 packages dry yeast
- 1 tablespoon shortening, softened
- 1½ cups very warm, 125 degree water
- Cornmeal
- Cooking oil
- 1 egg white
- 1 tablespoon cold water

Combine 1½ cups flour and salt, sugar, yeast, and shortening in a mixing bowl. Gradually stir in water and beat with an electric mixer at medium speed for 2 minutes, scraping the sides of the bowl. Add 5/8 cup more flour; beat 2 more minutes on high speed. By hand, stir in enough remaining flour to make a stiff dough. Knead for 10 minutes. Cover with plastic wrap, then a towel and let dough rest 25 minutes.

To make loaves:

Divide dough in half. Roll each half into a 5x10-inch rectangle before rolling it up tightly into a loaf; taper ends by rolling gently.

To make rolls:

Divide dough into six equal parts. Roll each part into a 8x5-inch rectangle before tightly rolling up and tapering the ends.

Place the shaped loaves or rolls on greased baking sheets sprinkled with cornmeal; brush lightly with oil and cover loosely with plastic wrap. Refrigerate 2 to 24 hours. Remove from refrigerator. Uncover and let stand at room temperature for 10 minutes. Make several ½ -inch deep cuts in each loaf using a sharp knife or razor blade. Bake loaves at 425 degrees for 20 minutes before brushing with beaten egg white mixed with 1 tablespoon water. Bake rolls 15 minutes before brushing on the egg white. Continue baking 5 to 10 minutes longer or until golden.

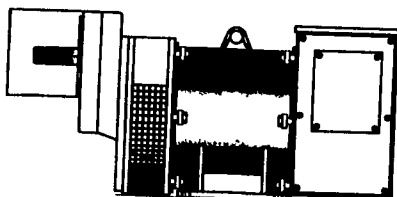

Makes 2 loaves or 6 hero rolls. For more, double or triple the recipe.

Pruning Young Trees

COLLEGEVILLE (Montgomery Co.) — Young or newly planted trees require special care to ensure their establishment and rapid growth. Young trees must be protected from the careless operation of lawn mowers and weed trimmers, from vandals and from harmful construction activities. They also should be mulched, given appropriate amounts of water and essential mineral elements (fertilizer), and in certain instances, may benefit from staking and trunk wrapping. But pruning may be the most important post-plant maintenance task to perform on young trees. The time and experience invested training a young tree will always be less than the costs associated with corrective pruning of neglected mature trees.

Tree pruning should begin at planting time. But avoid the temptation to "thin" a young tree's crown excessively. Research has shown that post-plant growth is more rapid and trees will establish sooner if pruning at planting time is limited to removing only weak, dead, diseased, rubbing or injured branches. By removing these obvious defects, young trees are able to use all available foliar resources needed to develop a strong root system and to overcome the stress of planting. Also remove the many small side branches that occur along the trunk. These lateral branches help the trunk increase in base diameter or caliber, making the tree sturdier. Laterals also shade the trunk, reducing the likelihood of sunscald injury, and act as guards, warding off equipment operators, animals and vandals.

After the young tree has become established in the landscape (usually one year after planting), pruning really becomes a job of "training." Two general concepts that will help guide the pruner are (1) training or pruning can take place progressively over the next three to five years, and (2) no more pruning should take place in a single year than is needed to enhance the shape or structural strength of the tree.

When training a young tree, first identify those primary limbs (scaffold limbs) that will eventually make up the tree's framework. The height to the lowest scaffold limb will be determined partly by the anticipated activities that will occur under or near a tree. But remember, during this early development stage it is important to leave temporary scaffold limbs on the tree at lower heights than will eventually be desired. In general, two-thirds of the tree height should be left as crown (branches and leaves).

Scaffold branches selected should have wide angles of attachment with the trunk and they should be spaced evenly and distributed radially around the trunk. Optimally, space major limbs 24 to 36 inches apart on alternating sides of the stem. Trees such as maple and ash frequently have major branches occurring in pairs across the main stem. Pruning these alternately up to a height of 12 to 18 feet will leave a structurally sound tree that is attractive and balanced. Never let one limb grow directly over a lower one.

Unless the tree has a natural multi-stemmed habit, it should be trained to a single, central dominant leader. The central leader is the topmost vertical stem extending from the trunk. Laterals that threaten to grow taller than the leader should be pruned back. Double or condominant leaders, if left unattended, can pose problems for trees as they age. Either one of the two stems (usually the weaker stem) should be removed to established dominance.

As training continues in subsequent years, other practices should be employed to promote a healthy and long-lasting tree. Laterals that have grown higher than the terminal leader or beyond the perimeter of the crown should be pruned back with the bounds of the tree. Any laterals that have grown inward toward the center of the crown should be removed back to their point of origin. And, structurally weak water sprouts and basal sprouts (suckers) should be removed to preserve the beauty and natural growth habit of the tree.

Finally, whenever removing branches back to the trunk, always cut outside of the branch bark ridge thereby avoiding injury to the branch collar. Careful pruning will promote rapid wound closure and inhibit speed of decay in the trunk. For more information about pruning, call the Montgomery County Cooperative Extension Office at (610) 489-4315 and request Special Circular #235, "Pruning Ornamental Plants."

Every tree planted should be given a level of care that will enable it to initially survive and then prosper for many years to come. Pruning and training trees when they are young will help ensure good growth and long-term structural stability.

Boots & Saddles 4-H

Llama Olympics To Be Held In Reading

READING (Berks Co.) — Many unusual and enjoyable experiences await visitors to the Eastern Llama and Alpaca Festival on May 4 and 5. The fun will take place at Charming Forge Farm, near Reading.

Forty-eight owners of llamas and alpacas from eight eastern states will be on hand to demonstrate all the enjoyable and useful aspects of living with llamas and alpacas.

Admission to the two-day event is free and will focus on education and fun for people of all ages.

The public is invited to gain hands-on experience with these lovable creatures, as breeders lead demonstrations on how to halter, lead, groom, and show the animals. Spinners, weavers, and felters will display their skills with the luxuriously soft fiber that these animals produce.

Llama "Olympics," anyone? Visitors will be entertained by llamas and alpaca performing obstacle course challenges, such as hurdles, a limbo bar, relay races, you name it! If it is fun, llamas will do it!

For shoppers, llama-related souvenirs, wool, jewelry, hand-crafted garments, and even some llamas and alpacas will be for sale. Delicious refreshments will be available at reasonable prices.

Festival hours are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on both Saturday and Sunday. Parking and admission are free.

For more information or directions, call Karen O'Neill (610) 589-5142 or Judy Eberly (717) 949-3790 in Pennsylvania, or Judy Morgenstern in New Jersey (609) 298-2666.

Llamas will entertain visitors at the Eastern Llama and Alpaca Festival on May 4 and 5.

Llama Facts

Llamas are among the world's oldest domesticated animals. They've been used as pack animals in the Andes Mountains of South America for 6,000 years. They provided herdsmen with meat, wool, hides for shelter and manure for fuel.

Llamas and their smaller relative, the Alpaca, make wonderful pets and companions. Their gentle demeanor and natural friendliness make them ideal animals to cheer the sick and elderly, and to visit children in schools. They do great public relations work like greeting customers at bed and breakfasts.

Llamas, and especially Alpacas, have been recognized for their fine fiber. Many more items such as sweaters, hats, and coats are being produced to meet the increasing demands. Spinners and weavers who in the past have used standard wools are now choosing the alternative fiber.

Llamas and Alpacas have become increasingly popular in the past few years, but many people still have unanswered questions and no place to find the answers they are searching for. This is what prompted a group of Pennsylvania and New Jersey breeders to join together to provide such an outlet. The Eastern Llama and Alpaca Festival is an outlet where breeders from eight eastern states will collaborate in order to educate the public and provide "hands-on" learning.

The public is invited to join in this fun-filled, two-day, free event which will take place on May 4 and 5. Breeders will lead hourly demonstrations on caring for the animals as well as grooming, shearing, packing, and felting. Visitors will be entertained by llamas and alpacas performing obstacle course challenges and the limbo bar. They will also be given an opportunity to try their hand at it. Children will be encouraged to "lead a llama." For shoppers, llama and alpaca-related souvenirs, wool, jewelry, hand-crafted garments, and even some llamas and alpacas will be for sale.

The festivities will be hosted by Charming Forge Farm and begin at 10 a.m. Saturday and Sunday, ending at 5 p.m. each day. It is free to the public. For more information contact Karen O'Neill at (610) 589-5142.

WILL THE IRS INHERIT YOUR ESTATE?

We can help prevent the loss of your estate due to taxes

New York Life's Survivorship Whole Life policy was created to provide you and your spouse with life insurance coverage, and needed liquidity, when your estate taxes are due.

It works like this: When one spouse dies, the resulting estate tax can be deferred until after the death of the surviving spouse. At that time, the policy's proceeds become available, and can be used to help pay the usually heavy estate tax. In other words, New York Life makes the proceeds available when they're needed the most.

You've worked hard all of your life, and shouldn't have to spend time worrying about what will happen to your estate. Call us for all the details and let us show you why New York Life is The Company You Keep.

Mid Maryland Sale Offers Top-Quality Sheep

MIDDLETOWN, Md. — Shepherds' Acres, Windy Hollow Farm, and Lock's View Farm are sponsoring the second annual Mid-Maryland Black and White Sale of club lambs and breeding sheep on Saturday, April 13, at Windy Hollow Farm near Middletown, Maryland.

The Davis, Keller, and Drenning families are bringing out their top market lamb prospects and a selection of competitive breeding sheep for public auction at the Keller farm. Prior to the sale, an opportunity will be provided for 4-H and FFA members to practice their judging skills on several classes of breeding sheep.

Offered for sale will be club lambs and breeding sheep from Dorset, Hampshire, Montadale, Suffolk, and Southdown flocks that have been shown locally and at the national level. 1995 was a banner year for these breeders winning numerous championships in Maryland, Kentucky, Massachusetts, and Pennsylvania. The flocks represented in this sale were formed with foundation stock purchased in national sales and from the farms of the leading breeders in the country.

The sale presents an opportunity for the club lamb exhibitor and the breeder to take advantage of top bloodlines and the reputations of these successful show flocks. Many of the sheep from last year's sale and private sales at the farms have done well for buyers. Hampshire and Montadale lambs in this sale will be eligible for their respective summer jackpot shows in Maryland.

MID MARYLAND BLACK AND WHITE SALE

Top club lambs and breeding sheep from the Davis, Kellery, and Drenning families will be sold at the Mid-Maryland Black and White Sale on April 13.

Ida's Notebook

by
Ida Risser

We've been doing a little entertaining recently and I always try to have fresh flowers on the table even if I have to buy them. Soon I hope to have a few spring flowers of my own. It takes a few hours to prepare for company but then a few days to put everything away again. There are special dishes for nuts, and candy and jelly. I also put special coverings on the beds — such as an old quilt or coverlet. And in order to open a blanket chest, I must first remove pictures of all of the grandchildren and this takes time.

Sometimes we can rototill the gardens in March and other years it is not dry enough until April. My children tell me to plant less garden but I say that I don't know how to do that. Besides, now that I have bought new seeds I want to plant them and see the results. Allen has started a lot of lettuce, cabbage, and tomato plants in tiny pots too. Now I can't let them simply go to waste can I?

My husband is building a rabbit hutch for the grandchildren. He says the treated lumber that he is using will last for 30 years. I remember, when our children had rabbits, they would bring them into the house and put them on the sofa to watch television. Those two big, black bunnies never even hopped off the sofa.

One time we offered to give some away and a small boy rowed across the Conestoga River and dragged a big box through the meadow. When I had to tell him that all of the animals had already been given away, he was so disappointed and left the box in our meadow. I felt so sorry for him but didn't know what to do to make him feel better. We all have disappointments in our lives.

Historic Dutch Farming, Gardening At Kutztown Festival

KUTZTOWN, Berks Co. — Authentic Pennsylvania Dutch farming and gardening techniques will be demonstrated at the 1996 Kutztown Pennsylvania German Festival, at Kutztown, June 29 through July 7, 1996. The Festival is held at the Kutztown Fairgrounds, adjoining Kutztown University Campus, and Kutztown University's Pennsylvania German Cultural Heritage Center.

The Old Time Plow Boys, an organization that preserves antique farming equipment and methods, will present demonstrations about Pennsylvania's fascinating farming heritage in the farm fields that surround the Pennsylvania Cultural Heritage Center of Kutztown University. This is also the site of the Antique Tractor Pull Contest.

For the children, the Plow Boys host old-fashioned games including a hay bale toss, potato picking, corn shelling and a pedal tractor pull contest.

The Old Time Plow Boys come from Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Connecticut, Maine, Massachusetts and Florida. They provide their own authentic, farm implements and machinery, spanning eras from horse-drawn conveyances to steam and combustion engine powered tractors. Demonstrations include plowing, cultivating, shingle milling, corn grinding and threshing.

A full-sized four-square garden is modeled from traditional Pennsylvania Dutch gardens of centuries past. The garden designer bases this one on research through the Folklife Society at Lenhartsville, to make it as historically correct as possible. The four-square garden is constructed in four squares with a crossed path in the middle. Crops include both culinary and medicinal herbs like mint and comfrey. Among the heirloom vegetables is kohlrabi, a small cabbage. Old Signet variety marigolds create the natural garden border that's a deterrent to certain types of garden pests.

For a free, colorful brochure about the Kutztown Pennsylvania German Festival, call 1-800-963-8824. A free, 24-page map and visitors guide is also available that lists lodging, bed and breakfasts, campgrounds, restaurants and area services.

Silver Stirrups 4-H Club

The first annual Silver Stirrups 4-H Club Benefit Farm Toy and Collectibles Show was held at the St. Dennis Church Hall in Galena, Md.

The show, originally scheduled for Feb. 3, was postponed until Feb. 10 because of a snowstorm. All proceeds benefited the building of the equine facilities at the Kent County Agriculture Center.

Dealers from New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware and Maryland set up 33 tables of farm toys, trucks, hats, pedal tractor parts, signs, magazines, displays and other items. Glass trays were awarded to Cliff Allison for winning 1st place for the best collection and best farm scene display.

Two raffles were held. The $100 trip gift certificate donated by Reiman Publications will be drawn on May 1. The winners of the other raffle (items donated by Toy Farmer) were Phil Hayes, Matt Shinn, Susie Bordner, and Jeff Craig.

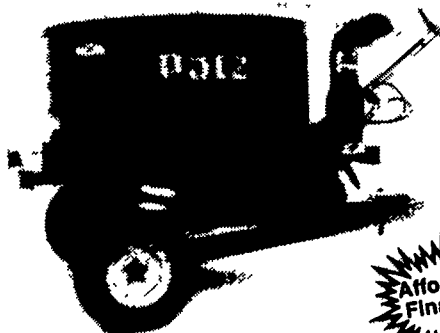

Next year's show will be Saturday, Feb. 1 with a snow date of Saturday, Feb. 8. For more information, call (410) 928-3276.

ACTUAL WEIGHTS OR EPDS?

It is well documented that calving difficulty is one of the most costly problems in the beef industry.

The cost is estimated at more than $850 million annually. Direct selection for calving ease is available in many breeds, and birth-weight EPDs are available in all breeds with a genetic evaluation program in place.

A recent article by Weaber and Gibb that appeared in the Gelbvieh World Magazine served to highlight a question often asked by beef producers. We have a tremendous amount of information available to select beef cattle these days, including EPDs, individual performance records, contemporary ratios, pedigree information, and the list goes on.

The EPD (expected progeny difference) is generally accepted as the most accurate prediction of a bull or a cow's actual performance as a parent, but there is an accuracy or reliability value attached to the EPD. The question then becomes what values do we use to select young bulls and heifers whose EPDs have a low accuracy value, particularly when considering the value of actual records and within-herd ratios.

The authors tried to answer the question of which information is most valuable in records from Gelbvieh cattle, but I think it would be safe to assume the results would be similar for most breeds (there have been other studies to support this).

First, the correlations between the calving ease EPD and several birth traits indicated the calving ease EPD at an accuracy of at least .70 would be correlated highest with the pedigree estimate for calving ease EPD (about .65), and would have the lowest correlation with the individual's calving ease score. Next lowest on the list was the individual's own birth weight. These results indicated the actual record of the bull or heifer would have little value in determining the genetic value for calving ease, and the EPD for calving ease, even from a pedigree estimate, would be considerably more accurate.

Next, these authors set a standard of an actual birth weight of 100 pounds as reported to the association to determine if this would correlate to bulls that would be above the breed average for calving ease. The results were that 66 percent of the bulls with an actual birth weight under 100 pounds would be above breed average for calving ease.

That sounds pretty good, except that this means one of three bulls selected for "calving ease" based on a birth weight lower than 100 pounds would in fact be below breed average for calving ease! The odds became much better to find true calving ease bulls by using the bull's pedigree estimate EPD for calving ease (86 percent) or when the sire's birth weight

EPD was under 0 pounds (83 percent). In both cases, actual performance records were not as valuable as EPDs, even at a low accuracy value, to predict the genetic value of the animal.

As we have said before, when buying seedstock from purebred breeders, be sure they give you all of the information needed to make a good decision. If they do not have the information available, go down the road!

Clover Seeding

Pure stands of grass can be made more productive by adding a legume to the mixture. Higher growth rates in calves, higher reproductive rates in cows, and reduction of the effect of endophyte infections in fescue have all been identified as advantages for legume establishment in grass stands.

Two methods of doing this include frost seeding in early spring and no-till establishment in grass stands. It may become too late this year to do much frost seeding because there must be frozen ground to scatter the seed. However, if there is some thawing and the ground then freezes to make the "honeycomb" appearance, clovers can be established by spreading 2-4 pounds of white clover or 6-8 pounds per acre of red clover on top of the ground.

I have seen some ingenious ways doing this, including running a "spinning" broadcaster behind a three-wheeler!

The clover (or other legume) can also be established in the grass stand with a no-till drill in the spring. Similar seeding rates are used as with frost seeding. One variation on planting when a no-till drill is not available is putting the seed in the insecticide box of a corn planter and planting the field very shallow in both directions.

Management of the stand will be critical in getting a good legume stand. This includes getting the grass eaten or clipped off early in the growing period, not using a nitrogen fertilizer, and maintaining good phosphorus and potassium fertility. When the clovers are grazed, some control for bloat must be used such as poloxalene-containing blocks or a liquid water treatment.

Young cattle can make the best use of the legume-grass pastures, so they can be incorporated into a rotational system that allows creep grazing or forward grazing of younger cattle. Stands can be maintained for a number of years under good management.

Society Presents Fruit Grower Award

CLAYTON, N.J. — The 1996 recipient of the New Jersey Horticultural Society (NJHS) Outstanding Fruit Grower Award was presented to Myron Hurff at the South Jersey fruit meeting in late February.

Hurff and his wife Darlene own and operate Wm. Schober Sons Orchards near Monroeville. The 250-acre orchard grows and markets peaches and apples.

Quality is a key word at the Schober's Farm, long known for its unique varieties of apples and quality peaches. Hurff has participated in the Rutgers Cooperative Extension IPM Program since its inception in 1981. He has hosted numerous educational meetings for other growers and organizations since taking over ownership in 1977. Numerous on farm research projects have been conducted on the farm by members of the New Jersey Agricultural Experiment Station.

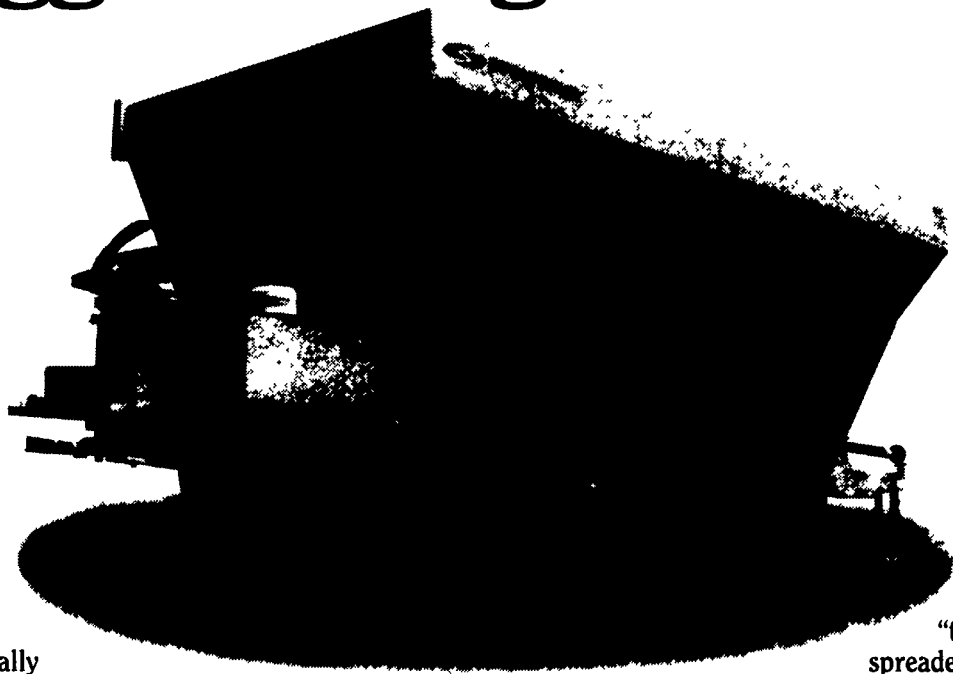

Hurff was president of the National Peach Council in 1993 after many years holding other offices and being a director of the organization. He is a long-time director of the New Jersey Peach Promotion Council and has served on many committees of the organization.

He is on the board of directors of the New Jersey Apple Industry Council and is past chair and vice chair of the organization. He is also a past member of the board of the now defunct New Jersey Apple Institute.

Hurff has served the NJHS as a long-time director, member of various committees, and served two terms as vice president. He is now serving his first term as president of the society. He is also a member of the American Farm Bureau, the New Jersey Farm Bureau and the Gloucester County Board of Agriculture and the New Jersey Agricultural Society.

The One Spreader Big Enough For Poultry Litter, Rugged Enough For Lime.

The Stoltzfus Poultry Litter

Spreader is specifically designed for the demands of this challenging job. The 20 foot hopper holds a whopping 400 cubic foot load, meaning fewer trips for you. The big 30-inch drag chain moves large volumes of litter fast. And the dual hydraulic spinners spread a wide, uniform pattern up to 40 feet wide.

But its real beauty may be its versatility. Now you can spread fertilizer, stockpiled lime, compost, poultry litter and more, all with one machine.

- Hydraulic spinners
- PTO-powered chain
- Spread stockpiled lime
- Walking beam suspension
- 4 sizes to choose from
- Truck-mounted models available

Long considered "top-of-the-line" ag spreaders, many Stoltzfus spreaders are still in use after 20 years.

That makes a Stoltzfus Spreader preferred not only for quality and performance, but also for terrific economy in the long run.

Sure you can settle for buying on initial price alone. But with a Stoltzfus Spreader you won't be shopping for another spreader just a couple years down the line.

of "Pennsylvania Dutch" farmland enroute to the northern part of the Chesapeake Bay. Travel from Havre de Grace to Baltimore aboard a CBF workboat.

•Teachers on the Bay: Institute for Chesapeake Bay Studies: July 8-19, excluding the weekend, (four graduate or undergraduate credits from Mary Washington College). First week will be spent on the Rappahannock, the second on the Bay.

To receive information on how to apply, contact the Northumberland County Conservation District at (717) 988-4224 or stop by the office on Plum Creek Road, RD 3, Sunbury. Application deadline is May 6, 1996.

Directory Available

Northumberland County Conservation District announces a directory is available which lists a variety of sources that can be used by teachers, students, citizen groups, local government officials, or anyone wishing to address audiences of all ages on environmental concerns.

The "Pennsylvania Water Resources Directory" (formerly called the Chesapeake Educational Resource List) is produced by the Pennsylvania Chesapeake Bay Education Office and is a compilation of items appropriate for enhancing audience understanding about the Chesapeake Bay and other water related environmental concerns.

Resources are listed in 12 different format areas: booklets, books, brochures, directories, fact sheets, field experiences, films, materials, newsletters, slide and tape sets, technical notes, and videos. Listings identify appropriate audiences and give a brief description of the item.

This new directory is a valuable educational resources tool for those who are studying about water quality issues, teaching about watersheds, or taking action to prevent nonpoint source pollution of Pennsylvania's waterways. To receive a copy, call the conservation district office at (717) 988-4224, or the Pennsylvania Chesapeake Bay Education Office at (717) 236-1006.

Testing Results Announced

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.)—Agriculture Secretary Charles C. Brosius announced that animals shown in the youth market classes at the 1996 Pennsylvania Farm Show were found to be free of drugs.

Fifty-eight of the top placing animals were checked immediately following the show ring competition. This was the first time testing was instituted at the Show, and was done in response to some difficulties which have occurred in other states.

In addition, the top four animals in the market steer, lamb, and swine shows were sampled at the packing plant and all tested free of drugs.

"The results confirmed that there was no evidence of illegal drug use at the Farm Show," Brosius said. "The purpose of the testing was to continue to maintain the integrity of our programs, and to assure consumers that the meat they purchase is safe and free from contaminants."

Youth Livestock projects are designed to teach young people responsibility and good husbandry as they raise their animals, Brosius noted, and the emphasis should be on producing high quality livestock products.

Junior market animal exhibitors were encouraged to complete a quality assurance course to learn more about the safety and quality of their products.

"We required both exhibitors and their parents to certify that they read the Show Ring Code of Ethics before submitting their entry for the show," Brosius said.

"Our livestock shows and the quality of the products from these animals must be above reproach. Any tampering with animals to enhance their show value can shake consumer confidence in the quality of livestock products and detracts from the educational and promotional experiences of the show."

Combines Named Among AE 50

INTERCOURSE (Lancaster Co.) — Charlie Hooper, president of C B Hooper & Sons, has announced that the case IH 2100 Series Axial-Flow combines, available at his dealerships in Intercourse, Middletown, Del., and McAlisterville, were one of four Case IH product groups recently named among the Agricultural Engineering 50.

Products are selected based on outstanding innovations in product or systems technology. Top developments cited by a panel of national engineering experts determine what is recognized for engineering excellence.

Case Corporation, manufacturer

Case IH 2100 Series Axial-Flow combines were one of four Case IH product groups recently named among the Agricultural Engineering 50.

er of Axial Flow combines, has responded to customer requests for superior harvesting equipment. In fact, customer input—covering areas from comfort to performance—was used to develop the combine.

"For instance, our customers requested improved visibility from the combine cab, and Case responded with new, large curved-glass windows which offer a panoramic view to the sides and an uninterrupted view to the head-cr," said Hooper.

According to Hooper, greater visibility was a priority, but enhancements didn't stop there. The 2100 Series cab is bigger than the 1600 Series cab and offers conveniently positioned controls for increased productivity and operator comfort.

PennWest Farm Credit Announces Record Performance

MERCER (Mercer Co.) — William J. Hoffman, CEO, announced another year of record performance for the PennWest Farm Credit Association.

When asked what he believed was the most significant factor in the improved performance, Hoffman said, "First, we have streamlined our loan process to provide our customers with quick answers to their requests. Second, our branch office staff continues to provide outstanding customer service."

Hoffman said, "Our staff followed through on more than 2,500 sales calls to individuals on their farms."

William O. Russell, chief credit officer, provided further insight into the success of the association with the following comments: "$46 million in new business, and 230 new customers came to PennWest in 1995." Russell said, "This new business came to Pen-nWest for two reasons. First, we make the process for our customers easy and efficient; and second, our employees come from a farm background, so we understand farming."

Jeffrey M. Paige, chief financial officer, said, "The association produced $2.6 million in net earnings in 1995 as the association maintained its commitment to have a strong capital position built through earnings and not customer-purchased equity."

NEW HOLLAND (Lancaster Co.) — The new Model 1411 Discbine® mower-conditioner cuts 10-foot, 4-inch swath in heavy or light crops, according to New Holland product management.

Fire ant hills and gopher mounds don't plug the bar; and heavy, lodged, high-yield crops are cut clean without plugging or slowing.

Disc units are sealed independent modules and are individually repairable to avoid catastrophic cutterbar damage if the unit strikes an unyielding object. stubble area, conditions that can slow or stop sicklebar mowers.

The "1411" features a new, independent modular cutterbar design. Each disc and its drive are sealed, independent modules that can easily be repaired or inexpensively replaced. This avoids catastrophic cutterbar damage if the unit strikes a hidden, unyielding object. All gears are precision forged for longer life and knives are double-edged and reversible for extended acreage cutting. Heavy ductile iron rock guards last longer. Skid shoes are 1/4 steel, 8-inches wide and extend behind each module for optimum flotation and disc protection.

Cutting discs are smaller in diameter and have a steeper profile to lift crop into the conditioning rolls for a smoother flow, according to New Holland. Operators can adjust the unit to deposit the crop in any width from an 84-inch swath to a uniform 36-inch windrow without having to use tools.

Models of highly productive trailed Gyrotedders have been released incorporating the exclusive "Digidrive" coupling system.

GF5001VTH covers a working width of 16.5 feet with a transport of 9 feet 2 inches. With the exclusive "Digidrive," a unique, patented Kuhn feature, the operator has a quick and easy change-over from working position to the transport position. Minimal tractor horsepower is required.

Kuhn Introduces Trailed Gyrotedders

VERNON, N.Y. — Models of highly productive trailed Gyrotedders have been released incorporating the exclusive "Digidrive" coupling system. GF5001VTH Gyrotedders are from Kuhn Farm Machinery, Inc., Vernon, N.Y. and Kuhn S.A. Saverne, France.

Myra McNeal, a dairy farmer from Bradford County, seeks advice from Dr. David Kohl.

Kohl Featured At Ag Outlook Forum

LEWISBURG(Union Co.) — Northeastern Farm Credit, ACA held its sixth annual Ag Outlook Forums on Feb. 28 at the Towanda County Club, Wysox, and the Country Cupboard Inn and Conference Center, Lewisburg.

Dr. David Kohl, professor of agricultural economics, Virginia Tech, Blacksburg, Va., addressed more than 200 farmers and business representatives.

Kohl focused on two key issues, "Economic Conditions and Commodity Outlook" and "Managing Farm Finances in Challenging Times," both tailored to the farming and agricultural business audiences in attendance.

During the economic outlook segment, expectations, for grain and livestock income, cost factors, and the money market future were highlighted. Kohl advised that over the next 12 to 18 months, grain prices will continue to be strong and livestock producers will need to adapt to this cost factor.

With global competition and continued improvements, the farm businesses of the 1990s will need to manage their financial assets more effectively, said Kohl.

During "Managing Farm Finances," he challenged the attendees to consider both the financial and family impact of managing their farm resources.

Directors Complete Institute

STATE COLLEGE (Centre Co.) — The Cumberland Valley Cooperative Association recently sent two directors, Herman Wirth and Herbert M. Dice, both from Chambersburg, and Rene Lavole, general manager from Newburg, to the Pa. Cooperative Directors School recently.

Right Milking Claw Can Improve Performance

MADISON, Wis. — Milking claws can make a big difference when it comes to controlling mastitis infections, keeping udders healthy and protecting the high quality of milk produced.

According to Joe Prazak, Bou-Matic® marketing manager, the new Bou-Matic Flo-Star® Classic accomplishes all of these objectives, as well as other benefits.

"The Flo-Star Classic is actually based on the innovative and patented design of the original Flo-Star milking claw," Prazak said. "The Flo-Star Classic has a swirl, non-stop milk flow that handles even the highest-producing cows; tangential inlets that guard against cross-contamination; and is lightweight to help prevent liner slippage and milker unit fall-off."

The original Flo-Star was so unique that a worldwide panel of agricultural engineers named it one of the "Top 50 Ag Products" to make a contribution to the field of agriculture.

So, why did Bou-Matic bother change it? "It's really just the Bou-Matic way of doing things, always striving for scientific advancement. The Flo-Star Classic was the result," he said.

Some of the improvements include shorter height to better fit deep uddered cows, new inlet spacing to better fit a wider variety of udders, and a new air fork design that makes the Classic narrower so it prevents most kickoffs as well as working better in parallel parlors.

THINK CONCRETE WHEN PLANNING YOUR FEED STORAGE!!

"HOW WILL YOU BE STORING YOUR VALUABLE FORAGES AND GRAINS IN THE 21st CENTURY?"

It's not too early to begin planning your storage and feeding systems for the year 2000 and beyond.

As margins narrow, dairymen need to invest in efficiency: this can have as great an influence on PROFIT as milk price changes.

Protect your valuable feeds from the elements... increase the efficiency of your feeds, your animals, and your labor.

At SOLLENBERGER SILOS CORP. we know a lot about feed storage and handling... we've been in the business since 1908. If your plans call for new feed storage, give us a call... we'd like to contribute to your success!!

"This is the kind of silo you need to protect your valuable feed."

"IT'S NOT WHAT YOU HARVEST, BUT WHAT COMES OUT OF STORAGE THAT COUNTS." QUALITY AND QUANTITY...

B.U.C.S. OWNER'S REPORT #51

The Word Is Out!

B.U.C.S. Owner's Report
✓ Increased Storage Capacity ✓ Better Feed Quality
✓ Faster Unloading
✓ Lower Maintenance

The Jamesway Big Jim® B.U.C.S.™
(BOTTOM UNLOADING CONVERSION SYSTEM) is making big news!

Reports are coming in from B.U.C.S. owners everywhere. And they're reporting that their systems are delivering increased storage capacity, higher quality feed, faster unloading and reduced maintenance versus their old systems. Even in silos that had been retired! But don't take our word for it. Here's what your neighbor has to say about their B.U.C.S. System!

OWNER'S REPORT #51

"We have two B.U.C.S. unloaders and get more material into the silos with much faster unloading. And tests prove we have better quality feed. We have had no problems and feel these unloaders will have much lower maintenance and service costs."

The Building you want. The Lease you need.

Whether your new farm or commercial building is of pole, timber column, stud, steel or block construction; choose Telmark lease financing.

Telmark has been leasing equipment for over 30 years. Did you know that we've been leasing new buildings for that long too? Consider the features:

- Tax deductibility and accelerated write-offs: Lease payments are income tax deductible over the term of the lease compared to 20-year depreciation of farm buildings and 39-year depreciation of commercial buildings. Could reduce tax liability this year.
- Low upfront costs: Beginning costs may be as little as one monthly lease payment.
- Flexible lease term: Building lease terms start aggressively at five years but may be as long as ten, twelve, or fifteen years.
- Customized payment schedules: Lease payment schedules match your cash flow. Payment options include monthly, quarterly, annually, as well as, skip or specially designed seasonal payments.

How do you start leasing a building from Telmark? Talk with a qualified builder to determine your needs and building cost. And call your Telmark representative:

You may pay less for some dairy farm equipment... but it can cost you more!

Equipment cost is not the only cost of cooling milk

In the long run, total operating costs of a Mueller® milk-cooling system are generally substantially less than those of "bargain-brand" milk-cooling equipment.

Example	Mueller	Competition
Cost of equipment	$41,000	$28,000
Cost of electricity @ .08 kW for 12,000 lbs milk/day for 10 years	$17,550	$22,850
Total operating cost for ten years	$58,550	$50,850
Savings	$7,700

HIGH TENSILE FENCE...THE FARMER'S BEST INVESTMENT

717-899-7617

BEAVER FENCE SYSTEMS

Darren Peachey, Belleville, PA

"The spring of 1995 was a turning point for our dairy operation as we moved from a high input operation to an intensive grazing system. Intensive Grazing has been everything we hoped it would be.
Our cows are healthier and we have less labor per cow. The life of our machinery will be longer. All in all it spells higher profits.

The first thing we did was talk to other people who were grazing to get ideas that we could incorporate into our dairy operation. We hired Beaver Fence Systems to build high tensile fence around the entire farm and we use portable fence to divide the interior into paddocks.

Today's dairy economy does not allow us to keep doing things the way we have always done them. We need to keep looking for more profitable ways of producing milk and managing our land.
Intensive grazing has made our business more profitable."

LIGHTING, OVULATION AND OVIPOSITION

Paul H. Patterson
Assistant Professor
Dept. Of
Poultry Science

Now and again it is nice to go back to the basics and review some of the hens' physiological processes that are important to people in the egg business.

Lighting is one of those everyday practices that is commonly applied to commercial flocks that you may not spend much time considering. However, without this simple management tool, flock size, housing, and production standards as we know them today would not exist.

In fact we would have to rely on floor reared birds, brought into lay in the spring of the year for our eggs, were it not for light management. Modern housing density would not be possible, nor would our birds produce more than 230 eggs by 60 weeks of age.

So let's go back and review what is known and what is new about lighting, ovulation, and oviposition.

The purpose of lighting is simple: 1) to delay sexual maturity and 2) to synchronize and perpetuate egg production. For the young pullet, we keep her housed under a program of less than 10-12 hours of light per day and less than 0.5 foot candle intensity.

These are the thresholds for light duration and intensity. If provided with more, she would start to develop secondary sex characteristics and begin to lay before she is really ready for the job.

When the young pullet is of the right frame size, body weight and fleshing, then we can begin to stimulate her with light. This may begin on or about 16-18 weeks of age, depending on your flock and management strategy. Lighting duration is increased slowly (15-30 minutes per week) and intensity is turned up (approximately 1.0 foot candle) until the hen perceives the spring-like conditions you have created and begins to lay. For modern hens, about 16 hours of light per day is needed to maximize the eggs per hen housed; any more than this does not improve her ability to lay.

Exactly what is it, you might ask, that makes the young pullet respond to increasing light duration and intensity? Light from either the sun or artificial sources enters the eye, stimulating small electrical signals to travel down the optic nerve to the brain. Here in the brain's hypothalamus, a chemical releasing factor is secreted and travels to the anterior pituitary, signaling this gland to produce a hormone called follicle stimulating hormone (FSH). The hormone causes the small immature follicles or premature egg yolks to develop and grow.

When the yolk is of the right size, another pituitary hormone, luteinizing hormone (LH), signals ovulation. At ovulation, the yolk is released from the ovary into the oviduct where in about 26 hours the egg white, membranes, and shell are secreted around the yolk. The growing ovary is stimulated by both FSH and LH to generate its own hormone (estrogen) which is responsible for all secondary sex characteristics associated with female chickens, e.g., rounded female plumage, comb growth, oviduct development, widening pubic bones, greater appetite, and nesting behavior.

This brings us to oviposition. First, what does it mean? Oviposition is just a fancy way of saying egg laying. Recently a great deal of research has been conducted to determine the timing and pattern of oviposition. Lillpers and Wilhelmson (1993) studied three lines of laying hens known for their egg numbers (EN), egg mass (EM), and egg mass-feed consumption (EMFC). As pullets, these birds were reared under a program of 8 hours of light and 16 hours of darkness (8L:16D). At 18 weeks, they were housed in individual cages. By 22 weeks they were increased to 16L:8D. Egg production and oviposition observations were made from 31 to 51 weeks and the results are summarized in Table 1.

Table 1 MEAN OVIPOSITION PATTERN AND EGG PRODUCTION TRAITS

Trant	Egg number	Egg mass	Egg mass-feed cons

Age @ 1st egg (wk)	21.2 ^c	22.2 ^b	23.9 ^a

^{abc}Means in a row with different superscripts are significantly different (P<.05)

The EN and EMFC lines had a shorter oviposition time (from the time from lights out until the egg is laid) than the EM line. A similar trend in oviposition interval — the time between egg laying events — was observed with the shortest interval of 24.9 hours from the EN lines followed by the EMFC at 25.3 and the EM at 26.0 hours.

The shorter oviposition time and interval of the EN line allowed for significantly greater egg numbers to 71 weeks of age (286.2) compared to both EM lines. Sequence length is the average number of eggs laid in a clutch before break.

While the strains were not significantly different, the EN line at 8.3 days per egg sequence were almost twice as persistent as the EM lines at 4.6 days. Note how the EN line started laying eggs at least a week earlier than the other lines in order to achieve the greater egg production.

However, in this time, average egg weight was reduced. When total egg mass was calculated for the EN line, the greater number of eggs times a smaller average egg weight equaled the other two lines that are normally recognized for greater egg mass.

Other observations by the authors allowed them to segregate the hens into groups with similar patterns of laying persistence. Type-A hens laid 2 to 3 egg sequences (clutch) in a row before pausing for a day or more. About 5.7 percent of the hens were categorized type-A, and about one half were from the EM line. Type-B hens laid more than 3 consecutive days but still had pause days. A majority of these hens were type-B (85 percent). Type-C hens laid about the same time every day with hardly any pause (9.3 percent of the total). Most of the type-C hens came from the EN line.

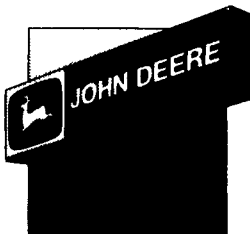

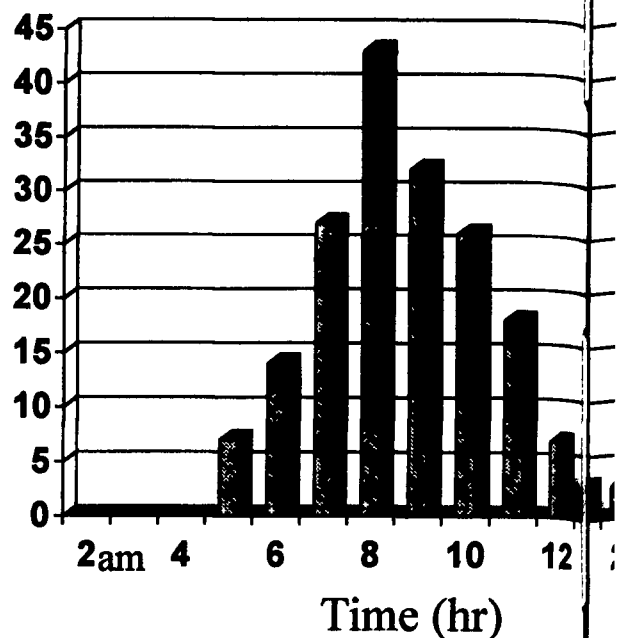

Patterson in 1995 studied the distribution of oviposition time from two commercial flocks in an industry setting.

Thirty-week-old DeKalb Delta and Hy-Line W-36 hens were housed nine per cage in flocks of 60,000 each in two adjacent high-rise houses. Lights came on at 4 a.m. and off at 7 p.m. Eggs were gathered hourly from 24 cages of each strain from 2 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Most notable was the pattern of oviposition as it was similar between the strains. The majority of eggs (approximately 78 percent) were laid within 15 hours after the lights went out. Approximately 45 and 25 percent were laid by 13 and 12 hours, respectively, after lights went out. Most eggs were laid within a narrow 8 hour working day, for example, about 90 percent were laid between 5 a.m. and noon.

Lastly, in Table 2 note how both strains tended to lay their heaviest eggs in the earlier part of the morning (5 and 6 a.m. for the Delta, and between 5 and 9 a.m. for the W-36). These early morning eggs are usually the first eggs in a new clutch. Sequential eggs in a clutch tend to be laid later each day and weigh less with each additional day.

One last bit of information reported by Carter in 1971 suggests there are strain differences in how a hen lays her eggs. Some hens squat during oviposition while other stand.

Three strains of birds were used for the study: A, C and G. Strain A was a medium weight commercial hybrid that laid brown-shelled eggs; strain C was a lightweight commercial hybrid that laid white-shelled eggs; and strain G was a laboratory strain of Brown Leghorns.

Twelve hens were housed in individual cages for 13 weeks where a trained observer watched hen behavior during 4 ovipositions. Drop height was recorded, as was the egg's orientation at emergence from the cloaca, e.g., small end or large end first.

Commercial strains A and C had a drop height of 7.81 and 7.02 cm, respectively, while the Brown Leghorn laboratory strain was significantly lower at 2.23 cm. Fifty-three percent of the eggs emerged large end first and the strains did not differ in this respect.

In summary, lighting is a useful management tool to delay sexual maturity and perpetuate egg production. Timing light schedules can influence the pattern of oviposition and may better suit the collection of eggs from the belts and better utilize your labor efficiently.

Hen strains differ in oviposition time, interval, and laying behavior. Although all reports on this subject were not addressed, there are a number of other factors associated with oviposition that can influence eggshell breakage and the number of marketable eggs.

Agway, Southern States Team Up

SYRACUSE, N.Y. and RICHMOND, Va. — Agway Inc. and Southern States Cooperative, Inc. have formed a joint venture creating a new feed manufacturing cooperative named Cooperative Milling. The Gettysburg, Pa. feed mill, which is owned by Agway, will now be owned by both cooperatives.

The current operation will be upgraded and re-engineered to increase capacity and allow for greater production of quality products. The facility will serve producers in southern Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland and southern New Jersey. Each cooperative will be responsible for feed marketing, sales and distribution to its respective customers and members.

"We are pleased to join with Southern States in this venture," said Bobby Fischer, vice president, Agway agricultural products. "This partnership will help ensure continued availability of high quality animal feed products for our customers and enable us to better compete with other large feed manufacturers."

This venture will allow both cooperatives the necessary advantages to better position them to market quality feed products in today's competitive feed environment.

"This new cooperative is exciting because it will allow farmer-members to invest in an improved, modern feed mill offering competitive advantages, that is well located to the animal population," said Tom Kirkpatrick, vice president, Southern States Feed Division. "This is a long-term strategy to assure producers they will have a facility capable of serving them."

NEPA Field Day Set

FREDERICKSBURG, Ohio — The 5th annual North East Piedmontese Association (NEPA) Field Day is scheduled for Saturday, June 15 here at Norway Farms.

Piedmontese cattle breeders from Ohio and surrounding states will be displaying animals beginning at 10:30 a.m.

Full blood and crossbred cattle breeders and those interested in Piedmontese cattle are invited. At the field day, a free luncheon is available beginning at 11:30 a.m. with a Piedmontese beef roast.

A raffle will be held with several prizes, including a registered half-blood Piedmontese heifer or a side of percentage Piedmontese beef. Also included is a $100 bill and many other door prizes.

The third NEPA consignment auction will be held, including full-blood Piedmontese, percentage cattle, semen, and embryos.

Piedmontese are a premium Italian breed producing one of the best F1 crosses in the world. They include dams that are docile with easy calving. The beef has a very high dressing percentage and, according to the association, the F1 types have lower cholesterol than roasted skinless chicken.

KELDERMAN AIR RIDE

Adding a Kelderman Air Ride Conversion system to your present suspension will result in a two stage suspension system. This is not to be confused with adding an Air bag mounted above the axle. Allows adding extra spring leaves to increase load rating and still maintain Air-Ride comfort.

The bolt on basic package utilizes an air stem mounted in a convenient location to add or remove air from the system

Optional 12 volt compressor allows changing air pressure setting on the go.

Currently available for front and rear suspension in Dodge Series 250 & 350 trucks. Available soon for Dodge Dakota models.

Also available for some Ford, Chevy and GMC truck models. Special orders available for most motor homes. This option will smooth out the ride on those rough-road fishing/camping trips.

Condition, smooth and mix in one pass.

Keep your bed intact and ready for planting with Unverferth's Perfecta II cultivator.

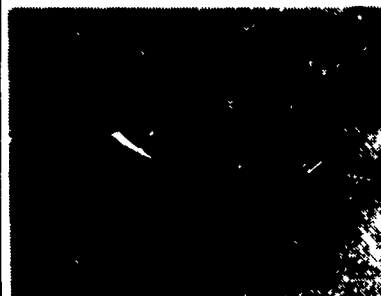

Heavy duty, varied depth s-tines first break the crust while maintaining the bed shape followed by spike tooth leveling bars to smooth the soil and incorporate chemicals. Follow this up with the aggressive roller basket to crumble and firm the soil and you're ready to plant. The PERFECTA II is available in row spacings from 30" to 80". DEAL TODAY!

There are more than 50,000 Case IH MAGNUM™ tractors working fields and farms around the world. And with over 65 million hours of rugged fieldwork behind them, they've proven what a difference durability, reliability and performance can make.

You'll feel that difference in the 7250 MAGNUM tractor, with a powerful 215 PTO hp. At the heart of the 7250 is its 8.3 L diesel engine — the definition of pure agricultural power. Not to mention the standard 18-speed full-powershift transmission that gives you complete control of 18 forward and four reverse speeds, as well as an optional creeper transmission that adds six forward and two reverse speeds.

Yet with all that performance, there is no shortage of comfort. The 7250 MAGNUM tractor cab means high efficiency and luxury. From the ergonomically designed seat to the operator-friendly layout of the controls, you're surrounded with features that make it easy to put in a full day's work.

If you're looking for a customer-proven tractor with all the features you need to maximize productivity, be sure to test drive the 7250 MAGNUM tractor. But don't just take our word for it.

SUPERFLOW FERTILIZER SPREADERS

SUPERFLOW SEEDER

Spreaders are the most accurate broadcast spreaders in the world. The unique pendulum action keeps the spread pattern close to the rear of the machine while at the same time providing a symmetrical pattern on both sides.

The pattern allows "back and forth" as well as "around and around" operation. The "truncated" pattern offsets inaccurate overlap problems, eliminating streaking.

1996 Marks The Production Of The ONE-MILLIONTH Vicon Spreader.

Thousands of machines are still in operation after nearly twenty years of use!

New Holland Natural Fiber Twine --

Your Natural Choice For Round Or Square Balers

- Uniform thickness - no thicks or thins
- Entirely biodegradable
- Treated for mildew resistance
- Consistent tensile/knot strength

- A bale of New Holland natural twine always contains the exact footage shown on the label. This isn't the case with other brands. For instance, a bale of twine labeled 7,200 feet by another manufacturer may actually contain only 6,800 feet. This kind of inaccuracy could make a big difference in your production costs. And, in your profits.

NEW HOLLAND NATURAL FIBER TWINE

Sheet Per Bale	Knot Strength	Gross Weight (Lbs.)	End Use Application	Sale Price!
7,200*	160	40	Square Bale	$20.79 per bale
9,000*	130	40	Square Bale	$20.79 per bale
10,000*	115	40	Square Bale	$20.79 per bale
16,000*	180	40	Round Bale	$22.80 per bale

What's the importance of the terms tensile strength and knot strength?

Tensile strength refers to the amount of resistance twine provides before breaking. But it's also important to consider a twine's strength. That's because when twine is tied into a knot, its strength is reduced by almost 60%.

New Holland natural twine has enhanced knot strength because we use only specially selected high tensile strength fibers to provide you with the best possible knot strength. New Holland twine comes from Brazilian plantations where the leaves are hand selected and cut from the hardy sisal plant. We harvest only the mature leaves at the bottom of the plant because of their longer, and much stronger, fibers. This kind of careful attention continues through the entire twine-producing process. In fact, there are a series of progressive quality controls through the various production stages to ensure twine uniformity and high tensile strength.

High Workers' Comp Premiums Stifle Farm Profitability

ALBANY, N.Y. — A Capital district farmer said that high workers' compensation rates are forcing him to annually reduce his labor force.

In testimony submitted to a State Senate Labor Committee panel on workers' compensation, John Meyers, a Columbia County vegetable grower and vice president of the Columbia County Farm Bureau, said that "Agriculture is New York's #1 industry, we employ many, but are slowly being forced to get by on less and less help."

The Columbia County vegetable farmer also told the Senators there must be a uniform definition of subcontractors, so that farmers are not paying workers' compensation on subcontractors who are independently employed and already carry their own liability.

In separate testimony delivered to the Senate Labor Committee, Rick Zimmerman, NYFB's director of government relations, said, "The increasing cost of workers' compensation has produced a crisis situation because at the rate at which premiums have increased has simply outstripped the farmers' ability to pay. The farm community is uniquely affected by these horrendous premium increases because farmers are price takers, not price setters."

He noted, "The collective members of Farm Bureau's workers' compensation safety group have seen their premiums more than triple in seven years, going from $6 million in 1987 to over $20 million in 1994."

New legislation introduced by the Assemblymembers Reynolds, Winner, Faso, Balboni, and Townsend, is being applauded by New York Farm Bureau. This legislation contains the necessary components to effectively reform workers' compensation in New York State. This package includes elimination of third party lawsuits, prohibits raids on the State Insurance Fund, increasing the payroll threshold at which farmers are required to pay workers' comp, reforms permanent partial disabilities, improves managed care, and creates a Fraud Bureau to attack abuse of the system. There are currently two Assembly bills which effectively deal with workers' compensation reform. The other bill, A.6553A, is sponsored by Assemblymembers Hochberg and Magee.

Zimmerman said, "If the current situation is not improved, more and more employers will be forced out of business completely...It is because of costs, like workers' compensation, that good, competitive farms can remain profitable and are going out of business at a rate of 900 a year. It is no coincidence that during the same period our (Farm Bureau) safety group's premium costs more than tripled (1987-94), 6,000 farms in this state went out of business." The Farm Bureau lobbyist cited the example of a Chenango County farmer who sold his cows and laid off four employees due to high workers' compensation costs.

Addressing the inefficiency of New York's workers' compensation system, Zimmerman detailed the example of an Ulster County fruit grower who had a longtime employee who broke an ankle. "Although the injury constituted a legitimate workers' compensation claim, it took three full months to receive treatment for the injury and six months before the employee received any compensation. Frustrated at the lack of timely help for his employee, he continued to pay the injured man's wages, even though he wasn't able to work."

Zimmerman went on to say that Farm Bureau calls for the elimination of third party lawsuits (Dole v. Dow), an element of workers' compensation that is adding 12 percent to premiums. He also urged state lawmakers to approve reform legislation that controls the cost of medical care in comp cases, namely managed care.

Roundup Helps Pa. Calves Compete

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.)—The results of the first Pennsylvania Feeder Calf Roundup suggests that a combination of genetics, good management and preparation for sale can help calves compete in new markets and bring a higher price.

The program was a cooperative effort of Penn State's College of Agricultural Sciences and marketing specialists at West Virginia University. A total of 22 beef producers from eight western Pennsylvania counties consigned 242 feeder calves to a marketing pool.

"Our objective was to add value to the calves by pre-vaccinating, weaning and marketing them in large, uniform sale groups from a central location," said Dr. John Comerford, associate professor of animal science at Penn State.

The program offered producers several advantages. "Those with small herds were able to take advantage of a new marketing outlet," Comerford said. "By having their cattle graded and sold in a competitive marketplace, the producers also were able to identify strengths and weaknesses in their health, breeding and management programs."

The calves were vaccinated and eartagged on the farm by extension agents Mary Shick in Washington County, William Kelly in Westmoreland County, William Brown in Greene County, Donald Hunter in Butler County, and Jeffrey Fowler in Venango County. The calves received booster vaccinations after two weeks, as well as deworming and lice control treatments and growth-promoting implants.

After four weeks, the calves were delivered to the Long Farm at New Stanton for weaning. The calves were mass medicated with a sulfamethazine bolus upon arrival at the weaning lot and were fed commercial preconditioning feed pellets. A week later, the calves were graded by officials from the West Virginia and Pennsylvania departments of agriculture.

"Some management problems prevented a few calves from competing," Comerford said. "Two calves were returned to the owners because they were bloated upon arrival. Twenty were rejected at grading because they weighed too little, received undersirable feeder grades or were castrated too late."

The remaining 220 calves were offered for sale in five lots through the West Virginia University feeder calf marketing program. "The calves in the feeder calf program generally brought higher prices than those sold in smaller, ungraded lots under similar market conditions," Comerford said. "Similar calves that were not preconditioned sold for about 5 cents per pound less."

Participating producers paid for feed during the 20-day weaning period based on a proportion of the total weight of the cattle and the amount of feed used. The average feed cost per steer was $26.33. Producers also paid $5 per head for vaccines and drugs, $6 per head for commission, an average of $5.85 per head for yardage at the feedlot, plus small fees for insurance and hay use.

The total cost for preconditioning and sale averaged $44.71 per steer. "Producers would need to receive 2 to 5 cents more per pound for the calves in the program than they would for calves that were not preconditioned," Comerford said.

"It may seem difficult to convince calf producers to spend more than $40 on each of their calves to get them sold, but the consignors to the program this year are excited about the results and are ready to do it again."

Plans are under way to expand the feeder calf roundup program in western and central Pennsylvania counties next fall.

If you're looking for a high fat feed, with excellent palatability, consider:

A dairy feed that could make your cows more productive, while also improving their feed conversion and breeding efficiency.

SUPER-EXT is a blend of high fat nuggets and pellets specially designed and manufactured by Purina to deliver feed quality, nutrient density and super palatability. The nutrient-rich blend is placed with complete nutrition and is highly palatable.

In field trials, cows fed SUPER-EXT produced an average of 6.7 pounds more milk per cow per day, while improving or maintaining milk composition. And while production increased, the cows that were fed SUPER-EXT maintained or improved their body-condition scores after freshening and were more-feed efficient.

Research Results
	Milk lbs/day	Milk Fat lbs/day	Milk Protein lbs/day
Control Average Production	100	3.24	2.83
